

Hardman Suggests Remus Fights Alienists' Report Entomology Board ASYLUM ORDER; Member Quit Post SAYS IN JAIL

Governor Takes Action on Ground Lyman B. Veeder Is Out of State Large Part of Time.

OFFICIAL DEFENDS HIS MEMBERSHIP

Veeder Declares He Has Business Interests in Georgia and That Absence Is Only Temporary.

A suggestion of Governor L. G. Hardman in a letter to Lyman B. Veeder, one of the three members of the Georgia entomology board, that Mr. Veeder resign his membership on the board on the ground that he is out of the state most of the time, has been answered by Mr. Veeder, who states in reply to the governor's letter that he felt assured the executive had based his suggestions on incorrect information.

In a friendly letter to Mr. Veeder, addressed by the governor to Mr. Veeder's temporary Illinois address, Governor Hardman said that it might be well for the entomology board member to relinquish his post on account of his constant absence from the state. The governor's letter was couched in most friendly terms.

In reply to the suggestion, Mr. Veeder stated that he retained his residence and voted in Georgia, that he had a large peach orchard here and that his family lived in the state. He explained that his absence was only temporary, and in the interval of the peach season. He implied that the executive's letter was based on a misapprehension of the situation, explaining that he was in the state off and on during the year and that during the peach season he spent most of his time here. He hoped that a true understanding of the situation would clear up any doubts that the governor might have as to his ability to properly comply with any and all duties as a member of the entomology board.

Mr. Veeder, with J. P. Hogg and Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture and ex-officio chairman of the entomology board, comprise the board's membership. Mr. Veeder, who is employed by a petroleum oil company, has been a regular attendant at the board's meetings, although he spends much time out of the state. It was stated at the capital.

Verification of the rumors at the state capital that Governor Hardman had suggested that Mr. Veeder resign and that Mr. Veeder had replied to the state executive's letter, were confirmed by one of the governor's secretaries Friday afternoon, who said that the governor's file on the matter was not available during the governor's absence from the city.

What price New Year's jag? If preparations by police authorities for making little 1928's reception a dry one are any indication, the cost will be greater than the celebration is worth.

When the lusty youngster arrives at midnight tonight amid the whistling, helling and yelling of the usual New Year's reception, city plainclothes men will be guarding advantageous points about the city to enforce the dry laws.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers said that his forces will be instructed to do their best to prevent any At-

AIR EAGLE OF U. S. LANDS AT BELIZE AFTER SHORT TRIP

Throng Cheers Lindbergh As He Narrowly Escapes Hitting Telephone Wires.

Belize, British Honduras, December 30.—(AP)—Undaunted by the perils of the improvised landing field here, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today swept from the sky on his promised visit to British Honduras in continuation of his good-will flight to Central America.

Although officials had been frankly skeptical of a landing on the sports field at the northern end of the city, the only available landing place, the American air hero made a 250-mile air jaunt from Guatemala city to look the field over for himself, decided that a landing was perfectly feasible, and then to the great joy of the eagerly awaiting crowd, came down, instead of turning south for San Salvador, his next stopping place.

The landing—the first ever made by a land plane here—was hair-raising, for the American flier appeared to escape mishap only narrowly.

He just missed the telephone wires on the northern end of the 400-yard field, and then veered skillfully to keep his plane from the grandstand that had been erected for the New Year's horse races. Then he taxied over the narrow field, swamped in spots, and came to a stop in the midst of deafening applause from the crowd, the largest that ever had gathered at New Belize.

THOMAS K. CROFT COMMITS SUICIDE

Ill Health Is Believed To Have Been Cause of His Act; Leaves Note to His Brother.

Thomas K. Croft, 24, of 1014 Albion avenue, died en route to Grady hospital late Friday afternoon as the result of a self-inflicted bullet wound in his right temple. He was found unconscious in an upstairs room of the home with a pistol and a note lying by his side.

Ill health is believed to have been the cause for his act. Officers were informed that a doctor recently told George Croft that his brother did not have more than six months to live. Thomas recently consulted several physicians, it was reported, and has been in a despondent mood since that time.

In the note addressed to his brother, he told him where to find several drafts and requested him to cash them and turn the money over to his mother. He also asked forgiveness for his act, police were told.

Call Officers E. E. Brackett and M. D. Cartwright investigated.

The body was removed to Avey & Lowrey undertaking establishment, where an inquest probably will be held today.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Sunday morning from the chapel. The Rev. F. C. McConnell will officiate. The body will be taken to Newnan for interment.

In addition to his brother, Croft is survived by his mother, Mrs. Bettie Croft, and another brother, Jack Croft, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Declares Judge's Action in Sending Him to Hospital for Insane Is Beyond Law.

IS DANGEROUS MAN, SIX EXPERTS AGREE

Cincinnati, December 30.—(United News.)—George Remus, ordered to Lima, Ohio, state hospital for the criminally insane today, must remain in county jail here until Tuesday at 10 a. m. when his appeal for bond will be heard.

That decision was made late today following Remus' appeal to Judge Charles S. Bell, of common pleas court, on a habeas corpus writ. The writ was signed by Gabriel Byerson, the former bottle king's brother-in-law, and charged that Remus, acquitted recently of the murder of his wife on grounds of insanity, is "being unlawfully restrained of his liberty."

Will File New Motion. As a technical step toward appealing Judge William H. Leuders' insanity ruling earlier today, a motion for rehearing by Leuders probably will be filed early tomorrow. Leuders is expected to refuse to grant a new hearing and the appeal then may follow.

Two alienists must hold Remus insane before the Lima edict is legal, Charles H. Elston, Remus' attorney, holds. But all alienists called in have held Remus sane, the defense counsel said.

Judge Leuders acted following a report submitted by three alienists, who found that Remus was not insane but was, nevertheless, "a dangerous psychopath."

Must Appeal by Tuesday. The alienists' opinion was the same as that formed in the minds of three other alienists who sat through the Remus murder trial.

Leuders, however, was not under the law bound by the alienists' opinion, who found that Remus sane. He acted in accordance with the precedent he set in the case of Vinton R. Perin, grain merchant, who slew his mother-in-law in 1924, was acquitted on the grounds of insanity, was held sane by alienists, but was sent to Lima, where he still is a patient.

Remus has until Tuesday to file an appeal.

APARTMENT HOUSE BRINGS $375,000

Four-Story Reinforced Concrete Structure on Ponce de Leon Avenue Sold by Massell Co.

Capping a series of real estate deals involving large Atlanta apartment houses was the announcement Friday of the sale of the Massell apartment building on Ponce de Leon avenue, between Piedmont and Myrtle streets, for a consideration of $375,000. The four-story reinforced concrete structure was sold by the Massell Realty company, the builders, to a client of the Burdett Realty company, which negotiated the deal as agents.

Representing the largest apartment house sale in many months and one of the outstanding transactions of the local real estate market during December, the deal brings the total big-sized sales up to a point unequalled in years, according to real estate experts.

The site of the Massell apartment, known as 198 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E., has a frontage of 180 feet on Ponce de Leon and extends back 174 feet to an alley in the rear. The structure, one of the most modern in Atlanta, was built in 1924 by the Massell family and contains 40 family units of three to six rooms each. It was erected to pass specification demands of S. W. Straus & Co., of New York, being the second structure in Atlanta bonded by the company and the only apartment house to be bonded by S. W. Straus & Co.

Rebate of the property through the Burdett Realty company for the client was made an investment, it was stated. The name of the purchaser was withheld. The apartment house is said to bring an annual rental income of approximately $45,000.

The Massell is the third big residential structure sold during the past three days and the fourth notable real estate transaction in this time. Announcement was made Wednesday of sale of the Park Court apartment, on the corner of Piedmont and Myrtle streets, facing Piedmont park. The consideration was $171,000. The structure was purchased from George H. Gilson by the Guarantee Bond and Mortgage company. Sale

THOMAS W. CONNALLY.

THOMAS CONNALLY DIES AT HOSPITAL

Prominent and Popular Atlantan Succumbs to Pneumonia—Funeral Services Sunday.

Thomas W. Connally, prominent figure in Atlanta's business, civic and social life, and son of a noted Georgia family, died suddenly shortly before 8 o'clock Friday night at a private hospital.

Mr. Connally had been slightly ill for two days and had been confined to his home, but his condition had not been considered serious enough to require the attention of the family physician until Thursday night. Pneumonia developed and he was taken to the hospital Friday morning.

As secretary and treasurer and attorney of the real estate company which bears his name, Mr. Connally was one of the leading figures in realty circles of the city, but it was in the activities of the Chi Phi fraternity, with which he became affiliated on September 28, 1908, at Emory university, that his interest was chiefly centered.

Leader in Fraternity. Mr. Connally continued his interest in the work of the fraternity following his entrance into the business world and was regarded as the order's greatest friend in this section of the country. His duties with the fraternity were many and varied. He attended twelve consecutive congresses of Chi Phi from 1909 to 1911, inclusive; prepared the Chi Phi register in 1908 and 1915; edited the Chi Phi yearbook in 1904-1905; founded the Eta Trust association at the University of Georgia, the Gamma Trust association at Emory university, and the Omega Trust association at Georgia Tech, these associations owning and operating the fraternity's real estate and chapter houses at the institutions named; and compiled and published "Occupation and Address Register of Graduates of Emory University."

Mr. Connally had received repeated offers of the presidency of the national organization of Chi Phi, but he declined them.

State Concealed Experts' Judgment That Snyder's Slayer Was Not Responsible, It Is Claimed.

GRAY NOT ALLOWED 2D DEGREE PLEA

Recommendations of State's Doctors Never Presented to Court, Authorities State.

(Copyright, 1927, by The Constitution and The New York Daily News.) New York, December 30.—A secret chapter in the state's effort to execute Ruth Brown Snyder and her paramour, Henry Judd Gray, for the murder of Ruth's art-editor husband, Albert, was laid bare today, entailing the widest possible consequences to the twin who, steeped in tragedy, now await death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison less than two weeks hence.

One week before the murder trial of Ruth and Judd opened in Long Island City before Supreme Court Justice Scudder, Gray was examined by four alienists—two in behalf of his defense, and two in behalf of the state. The doctors, collaborating in the examination, and in the preparation of their report, so that a full and complete psychosis of the defendant would be available, were unanimously of the opinion that Gray was not responsible, before the law, for the murder.

They recommended to District Attorney Richard S. Newcomb, of Queens county, that he be allowed to plead guilty to murder in the second degree.

State Prosecutor Agrees. Newcomb agreed, and with Gray's counsel, Samuel L. Miller and William J. Millard, walked to the chambers of Justice Scudder. Newcomb entered alone, leaving the other attorneys in the corridor. Returning in a few moments, Newcomb reported that Justice Scudder was opposed to allowing Gray to plead guilty to murder in the second degree.

On unimpeachable authority, it can now be said, Newcomb did not ask that Gray be allowed to plead guilty to murder in the second degree on the basis of the recommendation of the alienists, but that, on the other hand, he merely reported that Gray wanted to plead in the lesser degree and at the same time declared himself opposed to such a procedure.

And Gray, with the fathers against him, took the stand and told the story of the bloody night in Queens Village that furnished himself and his blood-sweat with one-way tickets to the execution chamber.

Projecting the tale about nine months from the great open courtroom in Long Island City, where the lovers heard their doom to a small conference room in the Commodore hotel on the night of last December 7, were Edgar F. Hazleton, counsel for Ruth Snyder; Doctors Siegfried Rock and Thomas S. Cusack, defense alienists for Judd; Dr. Clarence Neiman, of Chicago, psychoanalyst and psychiatrist, of Leopold-Loeb case fame, brought here to examine Ruth and Gray; and Gray's attorneys, Miller and Millard.

Revel Results of Test. Rock and Cusack, doing most of the talking, told in graphic detail of the Evidence Implicates 'Fox' With Murder of Policeman and Death of Pal's Grandfather.

ATTORNEY NOT YET DECIDED ON PLEA

Indications Are Defense Will Be Insanity—No Choice of Associate Counsel Made.

Los Angeles, December 30.—(United News.)—As defense counsel sought a plan that might save William Edward Hickman from the gallows, the state California was attempting tonight to connect him with two more vicious murders.

Evidence tending to implicate "the fox" with the slaying last January of Patrolman P. L. Bennett and with the death on May 25 of A. R. Driskell, was revealed by authorities. Hickman already has confessed to the abduction, killing and mutilation of Marian Parker, 12-year-old Los Angeles school girl, and to participating with his hand pal, Welby Hunt, 16, in the fatal shooting of Ivy Thomas, Rose Hill pharmacist.

The new evidence will be presented to the grand jury Tuesday when that body meets to indict Hickman and Hunt for the murder of Thomas.

Lawyers Silent on Plans. While the grand jury is investigating the case, Hickman will go before Superior Judge Carlos Hardy to enter plea to the charge of murdering the Parker girl.

His attorney, Jerome Walsh, sent here from Kansas City by Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of the slayer, refused to indicate what course the plea might take. He denied that he had chosen an associate counsel and said no attempt had been made to induce Clarence Darrow to assist in the defense.

Walsh conferred with Hickman for several hours today and it was supposed he was planning to introduce an insanity defense. In such a case Hickman would plead guilty and ask to introduce extenuating and mitigating evidence.

Some confusion existed as to whether Hickman or Hunt was the actual murderer of Ivy Thomas, killed in the drug store holdup engineered by the pair on Christmas eve, 1926.

The solution rested on the value of the respective word of pals who could loot and kill together and then

GALES WHIP SNOW AS TEMPERATURES FALL IN MIDWEST

Mercury Drops Below Zero in Kansas, While Blizzard Rages in Chicago and Northwest.

Kansas City, Mo., December 30.—(AP)—A severe cold wave with scattered snowfall and temperatures of zero or below swept into the midwest and southwest today from the northern Rocky mountain region, where the waning year was recording the most severe weather of the winter in some sections.

Although the snow generally was light, the fall at Kansas City was expected to reach two inches during the night, being the heaviest of the winter. First effects of the cold snap were felt in western Kansas, when thermometers dropped quickly, with a minimum of two degrees above zero at Goodland, near the Colorado line. Temperatures of zero to 5 degrees below were predicted for Kansas tonight.

In the mountain states temperatures dropped to 30 degrees below zero at Marysville, in northeastern Montana, which was experiencing the coldest weather of the winter. Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico were in the grip of the storm. Snowfall in those states was light but more was predicted along with zero temperatures.

Effects of the cold wave were felt in Oklahoma with temperatures below freezing and snow in the northern portion. A light snow and tempera-

NEW INDUSTRIAL CENTER PLANNED

West Point Will Lay Spur Tracks South of Fair Street, Between Pearl and Glennwood.

Steps looking towards development of a new industrial center south of Fair street between Pearl and Glennwood by laying spur railroad tracks in the area were taken at a meeting Friday afternoon of the streets committee of city council at which Chief of Construction William A. Hansell made his annual report of the activities of the construction department.

Members of the committee voted unanimously to permit the A. & W. P. railway to lay the tracks which will extend approximately a mile into undeveloped land. The road will shift one of the holes of the James L. Key golf course in order to clear the right of way, lying about 170 feet south of Fair street and extending into property owned by the Fulton Bag and Cotton mills.

It is estimated that industries valued at several million dollars will be able to locate on the new stretch thus made available.

A total of 112 street paving jobs were completed in Atlanta during the past year, stretching 22,645 miles and valued at $750,825.04, according to Mr. Hansell's report.

The city paid $509,683.97 for 92 of the projects, 15,625 miles, while Fulton county paid $241,138.07 for the remaining 1,02 miles.

Concrete paving laid under city supervision totals 11,263, while the remaining 4,362 miles are asphalt; 4,57 miles of the county work was asphalt and 1.6 concrete.

Other routine matters also were considered at the meeting, which was presided over by Councilman Charles L. Chosewood, chairman. Members expressed gratification at the constructive work done by the construction department, and voted thanks to William A. Hansell, Mr. Chosewood and Miss Mae Reneau, secretary.

President Coolidge believes, it was said on his behalf, that any one who desires to know what were the accomplishments of his administration during 1927 could ascertain them as easily by himself as from the president.

Likewise, the white house was silent regarding what 1928 might hold for the American people.

Celebrations in Big Cities So Restricted That "Infant 1928" May Enter Without Rubber Boots.

HOTELS PROMISE THEY'LL BE GOOD

Flowing Bowl May Leak a Bit Tonight But It Won't Flow Publicly, Dr. Doran Predicts.

Washington, December 30.—(United News.)—The flowing bowl may leak a little this New Year's eve, but it won't flow publicly, Dr. James M. Doran, United States prohibition commissioner believes.

He prophesies that young 1928 can quaff his entry into the United States Saturday night without rubber boots for federal agents are planning to make the celebration one of the driest in years. To accomplish this, federal prohibition enforcement officers are enlisting the aid of hotel men, cabaret and cafe owners.

Warning has been issued to all night clubs and other places in the larger cities where merry makers will gather that drinking intoxicating liquors in the premises will jeopardize the clubs as much as if the liquors are sold by the owners.

Cafe Owners Cooperate. Major Maurice Campbell, administrator in New York, and E. C. Yellowley, administrator for the Chicago district, have secured promises of most of the larger night clubs and cabarets that cooperation will be extended in the enforcement of the law, Dr. Doran stated.

At the same time, the federal agents will work double shifts in checking up on places where liquors might be used or sold, the prohibition commissioner said.

"We are leaving no loophole uncovered in our efforts to clamp down on public drinking this New Year's eve," he commented. "And if we can judge the Saturday night celebration by the Christmas eve drinking, it will be the driest since prohibition went into effect."

Except in certain sections, liquor will be difficult to secure this year, the prohibition commissioner stated. There will be considerable domestic manufacture of whiskeys, and gins in the larger cities but real liquor will be scarce.

Gloom Settles Over BROADWAY CAFES. New York, December 30.—(United News.)—A dry chill of doubt settled upon New York's splurging New Year's Eve revelers twenty-four hours in advance of a great celebration.

And if the "dill" is discarded from Broadway Saturday night, those celebrants who take it off may lack the lavish and traditional confidence of the city's prohibition.

Prohibition is causing projected merry makers some apprehension, to say nothing of ambitious bar tenders and night club proprietors who intend to recoup their steady losses on the big night.

Chez Helen Morgan—a little retreat for the certified upstart crust has had a bad day.

Unkind agents of prohibition have all but wrecked the only money-making night rendezvous in the city. Armed with a weapon of law designed against mountain moonshiners, Volsteadism moved its way through the big night.

GEORGIA PRODUCTS DAY IS BOOSTED

Numerous letters and telegrams from all over the state, commending the move to observe New Year's day and the first Sunday in each month as "Georgia Products Day," are being received by the Georgia products committee of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, it was announced Friday.

Among civic and state groups who have joined with the Georgia products committee in promoting the idea are the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the state bureau of markets, and the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the federation, voices the belief that Georgia citizens will never be satisfied to use substitutes if they can be induced to give Georgia products a fair trial.

The committee in charge announces that Atlanta hotels, restaurants and rooms have agreed to aid the movement, and are expected to serve Georgia products dinners throughout New Year's day.

In commenting on the educational campaign, Mr. Sharp said:

"It seems that the United States government either cannot or will not offer any definite help to agricultural producers, and it seems to me the women of Georgia have a great opportunity at hand to aid in the state's agricultural advancement by simply calling for Georgia-grown food products when they do their daily shopping."

Officials of the Atlanta municipal market, the largest in the state, have joined in the movement, according to announcement by President J. Frank Beck.

The Atlanta market is essentially a farmers' market, where vegetables, poultry, fresh meats, butter and eggs are offered to the public each day, fresh from the farms and truck gardens within automobile driving distance of the city.

Other officials of the market are Walter O. Foote, treasurer, and John A. Manget, secretary. Directors are James L. Key, Mrs. Norman Sharp, Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, Mrs. Irving Thomas and Norman C. Miller.

INDIANA SENATOR TO BE SUMMONED IN POLITICAL PROBE

Indianapolis, Ind., December 30.—(AP)—United States Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana will be asked to appear tomorrow before the Marion county grand jury which has been investigating charges of political corruption, it was understood here today.

The grand jury then will draft its final report as it will end its duties at midnight tomorrow.

The grand jury in recent months has indicted Governor Ed Jackson, former Indianapolis Mayor John L. Duval, a half dozen Indianapolis city councilmen and other men holding public office.

UNPAID TEACHERS THREATEN STRIKE IN PUBLIC SCHOOL

Washington, Ind., December 30.—(AP)—Teachers in the Alfordville High school have threatened to "strike" Monday if they are not paid their salaries, already several weeks overdue.

School officials said that the school fund was already overdrawn $6,000 and that the teachers would have to wait for their salaries until additional funds were available. Teachers who strike will be discharged, Clyde Jackson, township trustee, announced.

BOY KILLED BY TRUCK DRIVEN BY FATHER

Winter Garden, Fla., December 30.—(AP)—Fred Bostick, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bostick, was killed at the Bostick home near here today when struck by a motor truck driven by his father. The father was starting out of the yard with a load of vegetables when the child ran out of the house directly into the path of the machine.

MADDOX ELECTION URGED BY BROOKS

Emory L. Brooks, who has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for Fulton county commissioner to fill the unexpired term of the late Charles G. Turner, Friday issued a statement in which he not only declined to take the field but commended James W. Maddox, one of the five candidates who are seeking the position in the special election to be held January 12.

Other candidates in addition to Mr. Maddox are Dr. William Gilbert, Thomas H. Pitts, William E. Dunn, Jr., and Charles N. Walker.

The statement follows:

"To my many friends who have so kindly urged me to run for county commissioner, I have seriously considered your request and have not reached a conclusion without much thought."

"After looking the situation over from all angles, and realizing the shortness of time for making a campaign, I have concluded not to run at this time."

"I do not wish you to understand that I do not hold in high esteem your confidence in me, my fitness for the position, and my ability to win the race."

"But since another candidate, who stands for the same principles that I advocate, and who is in every way qualified for the position as I am, has been chosen, I feel that it would be doing anything amiss to decline to run for this unexpired term."

"So, with a heart full of gratitude to you for your interest and confidence and with every assurance that you may count on me for service whenever I may render same, I most respectfully decline to run at this time."

"In addition to this, I feel that it is a favorable consideration my old friend J. W. Maddox, for whom I shall cast my vote on January 12 and whom I believe will be a businesslike and economical administration of county affairs."

GOVERNOR HAS WORRIES OTHER THAN DOG FIGHT

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, December 30.—"I have other things to worry about than a dog fight between the mayor of Lynn and the director of the division of animal industries."

This was Governor Fuller's reply to a proclamation by Mayor Bauer to the dogs of Lynn, in which he defies the state authorities to come into his city and apply their 90-day restraint order.

More than two weeks have passed since the first threat of the division of animal industry to restrain the dogs in Lynn regardless of Mayor Bauer, but as yet hostilities have not begun. There were broad intimations today, however, that the division may do something shortly.

Gift Announced.

Washington, December 30.—(United News.)—A gift of $50,000 from Mrs. Albert J. Beveridge, widow of the former Indiana senator, is announced by the American Historical society, in session here. The money is to establish a memorial in memory of her late husband, author of a life of John Marshall.

Best Carmen Lack Ambition, Expert Rules

Columbus, Ohio, December 30.—(AP)—A street car conductor or motorman has a tough job, for he must be something of a philosopher, possess perfect health and good physical control and lack ambition, according to Mrs. Sadie Myers Shellow, of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Shellow, who is personal psychologist for the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co., explained the requirements of a good street car man to members of the American Psychological association today. A street car man must have nervous stability, quick reactions, social intelligence and interest in his job—particularly the motorman, she said.

He must be a philosopher of a sort so he will be able to listen to the complaints and abuse of the passengers without losing his temper, the speaker added.

GEORGIA WILL GET NEW TESTS FOR DRY EXECUTIVE POSTS

Washington, December 30.—(AP)—Additional examinations for executive positions in the reorganized prohibition enforcement service will be conducted in 24 states.

Previous examinations, the civil service commission announced today, have indicated that there will not be sufficient eligibles to fill the offices of prohibition administrator, assistant prohibition administrator, deputy prohibition administrator in all the districts. Applications must be filed not later than January 31.

The states specified include West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

VICTIM OF THIEF STEALS AS REVENGE AGAINST POLICE

Washington, December 30.—(AP)—Rent upon giving the police "something to do" in return for their failure to recover $500 and a diamond ring, a thief stole a car from the police station in Florida, Richard A. Rice, 72, turned to shoplifting.

He was caught in the act of pilfering from a store and then took two detectives to his hotel room and showed them numerous other stolen articles of which he had been robbed in Florida, Richard A. Rice, 72, turned to shoplifting.

COUNTESS TO SAIL FOR HOLLYWOOD FOR TRY AT MOVIES

London, December 30.—(AP)—The Evening Star says today that Lady Georgia, Countess of Douglas, wife of Count Bertier de Sauvigny, is sailing on the Majestic Wednesday for Hollywood, where she hopes to appear in the movies.

Lady Georgia is reputed to have the smallest feet in English society, wearing a two and three-quarter size which she has to have made in Paris. She has her legs and feet insured for 20,000 pounds, the newspaper states.

DREWRY HONORED BY INSTRUCTORS OF JOURNALISM

Iowa City, Iowa, December 30.—(AP)—Professor John E. Drewry, of the University of Georgia school of journalism, today was elected vice president of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism. ILLINOIS CENTRAL COUNSEL IS RETIRED

Chicago, December 30.—(AP)—Retirement of W. S. Horton as general counsel of the Illinois Central system was announced today by L. A. Downs, president. R. V. Fletcher succeeds him.

The company's rules require retirement at 70, the age reached by Horton.

The following appointments were announced by Fletcher: Charles N. Burch, general solicitor southern lines, including the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley and Gulf and Ship Island railroads, with an office in Memphis; H. D. Minor, general attorney, southern lines, headquarters in Memphis; C. H. McKay, assistant general attorney southern lines; T. J. Wells, district attorney, Gulf and Ship Island railroad, with offices in Hattiesburg, Mississippi.

END OF BATTLE SEEN BY COOLIDGE

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, December 30.—President Coolidge takes an optimistic view of the oil and alien land law sources shall not be applied to prompt developments of the last 48 hours.

He is of the opinion that the action of President Calles and the Mexican congress in repealing the provision confiscating American oil properties will settle the entire oil land controversy. The dispute so far as it relates to other properties owned by Americans, the president believes, is now susceptible of settlement by other means.

The state department is disposed to be more cautious. It has been noted that Ambassador Morrow is sending his report on the incident by mail, which is regarded as an indication that he is not particularly enthusiastic over what appeared to be an American diplomatic victory.

The foundation of the president's optimism presumably is the fact that President Calles, the Mexican congress and the Mexican supreme court now unanimously agree that the law nationalizing Mexican natural resources shall not be applied to properties acquired prior to May 1, 1917, when the constitution providing for such nationalization was adopted.

One provision of this law required foreign owners of oil land to exchange their fee simple titles for concessions terminating in 50 years. The supreme court held that the application of this provision to properties acquired prior to May 1, 1917, is retroactive legislation and therefore unconstitutional. Calles and the Mexican congress have accepted the ruling and will not insist on its application.

Now this happens to be the crux of the entire controversy with Mexico over the oil and alien land laws. The provision requiring property owners to exchange their fee simple titles for concessions was one of the most objectionable of numerous devices in the nationalization law for depriving aliens of their rights.

The United States voiced no objection to the application of all the provisions to properties acquired after the new constitution became effective in 1917. It is a significant fact that the application to lands acquired prior thereto was retroactive and therefore confiscatory.

Reports are in circulation that the repeal of the confiscatory provision is merely a part of a gigantic deal between Wall street and the Mexican government whereby the American oil companies which have withdrawn from Mexico as a result of the antagonistic legislation will return and resume operations and additional loans will be made to the Calles government by the United States. The deal is held to hold the Mexican external debts.

MONOPOLY TO TAKE OVER SPANISH OIL INDUSTRY.

St. Jean de Luz, France, December 30.—(AP)—The stroke of midnight on December 31 the petroleum monopoly in Spain becomes effective.

Without the slightest difficulty, and in the presence of government representatives, the monopoly already has taken over factories, deposits and companies that formerly supplied petroleum and its products in Spanish territory. While legal valuation of the properties taken over is progressing, the monopoly will pay interest on whatever purchase price is finally fixed by expert appraisers.

Numerous Spanish engineers entrusted with the task of organizing and administering the monopoly have left for various countries abroad with the object of conducting their own business of production and manufacture of petroleum products.

CHICAGO PAPER BEGINS ERECTION OF NEW BUILDING

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution.)

Chicago, December 30.—On the spot where the LaFramboise family, less than a century ago, traded in beans, flour and with the Indians at Madison and Canal streets, the Chicago Daily News has begun the erection of a superb new building. It is the first Chicago building to utilize the air rights above the city's railway tracks as part of its site.

This marks a new era in Chicago building. It opens hundreds of acres of property encircling the Loop district, utilized now merely for railway tracks, to potential skyscraper sites. Real estate appraisers estimated this "air rights" property as easily worth $400,000,000.

WEST POINT PLANS SIGNS ON STATIONS TO ASSIST FLIERS

Officials of the A. & W. P. railroad Friday announced that names of stations along the route from Selma, Ala., to Augusta, Ga., will be painted on the roofs of the buildings in order to aid aviators in piloting their ships.

The letters will be ten feet high, and will be placed on about 20 terminals of the road. The first one already has been completed at Lithonia, Ga., and is in compliance with a request of the air division of the department of commerce, and is being followed by owners of private buildings as well as operators of public institutions.

BACHELOR'S CHANCE OF FAME IS SLIGHT, SAYS SCIENTIST

Columbus, December 30.—(AP)—Bachelors have little chance of getting into "who's who," according to Dr. Albert E. Wiggam, scientist and author who is attending the American Psychological association meeting which held its final session today.

"Married men are the ones who rise to prominence," he said. "The likelihood of such an achievement rises with the number of children increasingly until there are four in the family."

College Prexy's Son Quits Books To Sell Pickles

Evansville, Ill., December 30.—(United News.)—Johnny Scott, son of Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, started in business today as a dispenser of pickle onions and baked beans to overworked housewives.

He asserted his desire to improve the delicatessen business was as sincere as his father's youthful yearning to become a great psychologist and he hopes to attain the same degree of success. "The Scott Delicatessen No. 1" is an adequate store, but not pretentious. The president believes in waiting on customers who desire pickle, limburger cheese or what not, but he questions his assistant when the price of things are in doubt.

Johnny Scott is a graduate of Northwestern.

GIRL FOUND SLAIN IS IDENTIFIED AS COLLEGE DOMESTIC

Washington, Pa., December 30.—(AP)—The unidentified body of Thelma Young, 17, of Washington, with a deep cut in the forehead over the right eye, was found in a field at the city limits today.

Police learned that Miss Young, employed as a domestic in the Washington and Jefferson college athletic training house, had left her home last night to attend a motion picture show. This was the last trace of her until the body was found this morning by Dominic Grisolaw, who works in the house where she was employed.

Police revealed that Miss Young was found near the spot where she had been seen last night and early today. In his room they found a black mask made from a silk stocking.

Drew had been suspected in previous attacks on girls, detectives reported, and had failed to account for his movements last night and early today. He was found hiding under a bed in his home near the field where the girl's body was discovered. When the police placed him under arrest, Drew shouted "I didn't do it."

COTTON WEAVING PLANT TO REDUCE WAGES 10 PER CENT

Full River, Mass., December 30.—(AP)—The Stevens Manufacturing company, employing about 800 operatives and specializing in fancy cotton goods, today announced a 10 per cent reduction in wages, effective January 2.

The Stevens Manufacturing company, employing about 800 operatives and specializing in fancy cotton goods, today announced a 10 per cent reduction in wages, effective January 2.

30 BOOTLEGGERS, POVERTY STRICKEN, TAKE PAUPER OATHS

Fort Worth, Texas, December 30.—(AP)—Thirty poverty-stricken bootleggers took pauper oaths when they were brought here before J. W. Flynn, United States commissioner.

The army of defendants, including both men and women, pleaded business was bad and they were penniless. "This is the first time I ever saw bootleggers take pauper oaths," said Commissioner Flynn. He ordered them released.

WAR VETS GET ADDITIONAL TIME TO ASK BONUSES

Washington, December 30.—(United News.)—Veterans of the world war who have failed to apply for insurance bonuses still have a chance to get in their claims under instructions issued today by Director Hines, of the veterans bureau.

"If you can't get a formal application blank immediately," Hines said in a statement, "just write a letter, signing it and stating your name and organization. Dependents of deceased veterans also may send letters." These letters must be in the mail before midnight Saturday.

Judge Luke To Open Baptist Tabernacle Revival Sunday Night

Judge Roscoe Luke, of the Georgia court of appeals, will arrive here Sunday afternoon to begin a two-week revival at the Baptist tabernacle Sunday night, it was announced Friday.

Judge Luke is one of the best known lay evangelists in this section of the country, and is a picturesque figure in political and church circles of the state and the south.

"He was converted several years ago and since that time has devoted much of his time to evangelistic work," the Rev. Will Houghton, pastor of the tabernacle, said Friday night. "Our church is fortunate in obtaining the services of so fearless and recognized a leader."

He and Charles Butler, and Mr. Butler's daughter, Miss Lillian, conducted one of the most successful revivals here in Atlanta in many months last fall at the St. Paul Methodist church. We feel honored that he is coming to Atlanta and our church, and feel that his efforts will be crowned with success."

Mr. Butler has a national reputation as a soloist and musical conductor and Miss Butler is an accomplished pianist.

EXPERTS TO SPEAK TO CITY SALESMEN

The first of a series of eight addresses by specialty salesmen of the City Salesmen's association will begin at 11:30 o'clock this morning, in the city council chamber, it was announced Friday by W. W. Moore, president.

O. C. Camp, E. P. Johnson and Ben F. Messer will speak today on the subject: "The Specialty Salesman and How He Can Best Serve Jobber and Retailer."

"IT'S WARMER BELOW," SAYS SUBWAY POSTER

London, Eng., December 30.—(AP)—"It's warmer below," says a poster appearing at the entrances to London subways as an inducement to people to travel via the underground during the cold wave. The first visitor to the subway is a picture which had been snowed in for three days, was a tax collector.

FIRE SWEEPS PIER, DESTROYS LINER

Hoboken, N. J., December 30.—(AP)—Fire which swept two blocks along the water front today destroyed the Clyde-Mallory line ship Seneca, several small vessels and two 700-foot piers. The damage exceeded $1,250,000. A number of tugs and other craft were towed to safety.

Fed by a heavy film of oil and gasoline on the Hudson river, the flames raged over the area in the space of an hour. They were under control at the end of that time, but broke out anew several hours later with the explosion of an oil storage chamber aboard the Seneca.

Fire Chief Gildea had only a skeleton force on duty, but succeeded in continuing the fire destruction to the ship.

Causes of Blaze Unknown.

The cause of the conflagration was not learned. One report was that a spark dropping from the acetylene torch of a workman repairing a tug touched off the oil on the surface of the water, while another said that gasoline exploded on one of the piers. The destruction of the Seneca was one of a series of disasters to overtake ships of the Clyde line. Several of the company's best boats have been burned on the seas or in port.

Built in 1894 as the Kavalina, the vessel was the first to be driven by electricity. It was successively the Powhatan, Cuba and Seneca and during the war served as a troop transport.

Sunk by Submarine.

It was sunk by a submarine, and later raised and later reconditioned. It had not been in used since September and was to be conditioned again for the New York-Miami service. The Seneca had accommodations for 280 passengers and freight. It was 296½ tons gross and was valued at $750,000.

I. C. C. Chairman Named.

Washington, December 30.—(AP)—Johnston B. Campbell, of Spokane, Wash., was named chairman of the interstate commerce commission today for the year 1928. He succeeds Chairman John J. Esch. The chairmanship is given to the commissioners by rotation.

An Appreciation - and a Pledge for 1928

Over a million Chevrolet cars were produced this year. This is the largest number of gearshift cars ever built in a single year by a single manufacturer — and makes Chevrolet the world's largest builder of automobiles in 1927.

The Chevrolet Motor Company realizes that this outstanding achievement was made possible only by tremendous nationwide public support — by the public's splendid acceptance of Chevrolet quality.

Therefore, we take this occasion to express our appreciation of that support and to pledge, herewith, a continuance of the policy of progress which has ever increased the value of our product — and which finds further expression in the New Chevrolet to be announced on January first.

U. S. JURY NAMES IN OIL PROBE

Washington, December 30.—(United Press.)—Another step was taken today in the Sinclair case by the local grand jury.

The grand jury returned a presentment charging conspiracy to obstruct justice against Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man; H. Mason Day, Sinclair official charged with directing the jury espionage; Sheldon Clark, Chicago, Sinclair official; William J. Burns and his son, W. Sheridan Burns, and two of their detective bureau chiefs, Charles G. Rudy and Frank J. O'Reilly, who had charge of the actual work of the detectives.

The jury returned a presentment instead of indictments to enable the government to go ahead unhampered in the pending contempt case against those involved.

Burns Agents to Testify. Indictments would prevent the government from using Rudy and O'Reilly, Burns' agents, as witnesses in the contempt case. If contempt proceedings fail the government may then return indictments on the basis of the presentments.

At the same time the government announced it would oppose an effort to delay the contempt hearing set January 6 against Harry Blackmer, the missing oil company witness who fled to Europe and refused to heed a subpoena to come back to tell what he knows about the raising of the Continental Trading company fund, part of which was traced to Albert R. Fall in the form of Liberty bonds.

Blackmer fled the country and has defied all attempts by the government to call him back as a witness. If the contempt proceedings go against him, he will have to forfeit $100,000 in property under a recent law.

Won't Answer Summons. This law was passed in an effort to induce Blackmer to come back but he only refused to heed, in subpoena servers and is looking in the comforts of an expensive Paris hotel while the government labors here to get at the facts in the Teapot Dome scandal.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur says the navy will receive about $3,000,000 in Liberty bonds and $100,000 in the missing oil company witness who fled to Europe and refused to heed a subpoena to come back to tell what he knows about the raising of the Continental Trading company fund, part of which was traced to Albert R. Fall in the form of Liberty bonds.

Stunt Flier Crashes in Plane; May Die

Glendale, Cal., December 30.—(United Press.)—Al Johnson, 30, stunt flier for the Caddo Motion Picture company, probably was fatally injured when the craft he was conditioning crashed into a high tension wire today. After receiving severe shocks, he was badly burned when his plane took fire and fell to the ground. Hospital authorities said his recovery was doubtful.

Great Battles in Senate Are Recalled by Stage Star

FUND OF $500,000

With the memory of days when famous orators engaged in forensic clashes on the floor of congress still fresh in his mind, J. Clarence Harvey,

Mr. Harvey, who left senate halls for a long and brilliant stage career, which in many respects is almost unparalleled, has a wealth of memories of oratorical battles between famous men, and principal among these is one between Senator John H. Hill, Georgia, and Senator Ingalls of Kansas, on the silver bill.

"Senator Ingalls was one of the most sarcastic speakers ever heard," Mr. Harvey said, "and in support of this bill he launched a tirade of scorching wit and sarcasm against Senator Hill, one of the finest orators the senate ever heard."

"But Senator Hill was too great for Ingalls. He made him look ridiculous by his oratorical brilliance and the debate ended with the entire senate laughing at the senator from Kansas."

Mr. Harvey served in the senate from 1876 to 1882. He left to join the old John T. Ford Opera company, and during his play with this organization he appeared as "Coco" in the opera "Mikado" exactly.

He left this organization to become the leading comedy man with the famous Wilbur Opera company, with which he played for 15 years. After this, he toured every country in the world, returning to America to join the Shubert Brothers in 1903, with whom he has been associated since.

He has known personally every president of the United States since General Ulysses S. Grant. He was appointed as page in the senate by President Arthur.

Mr. Harvey was in Atlanta in 1888, when the Wilbur Opera company made its sensational run at the Lyric theatre, while on that visit, he met and compared notes on the colorful days in the senate with The Constitution's Washington correspondent.

He has the role of "Mr. Fritchie" in the opera "My Maryland," and critics have acclaimed his performance as the dramatic triumph of the production.

"I believe the production of 'My Maryland' that Atlanta is seeing is far superior to the New York and Philadelphia companies," Mr. Harvey said, "and the statements of critics who have seen both companies support me."

most normal today with calmer seas and kinder winds after a tempestuous week. The steamship Mantic arriving at Southampton reported a quiet voyage across and her passengers were astounded to find England snow-covered.

Railway service, which was severely crippled by snow and ice also was nearly normal today as a result of continuous work by an army of snow plows and shoveling.

are stretches of important highways, however, that are still impassable and many automobiles stand half-covered in snow drifts where they were abandoned three or four days ago.

CHESAPEAKE BAY FOG DELAYS STEAMERS.

Baltimore, December 30.—(United Press.)—Blanketing fog and harbor facilities for more than 24 hours a dense fog which shutters down the Chesapeake in several years, blocked ocean and steamship traffic today, and delayed rail service at many points.

Visibility was reduced to 30 feet, and the few ships that cleared crawled cautiously down the Chesapeake with horns and sirens screaming. Several boats remained at anchor until the heavy mist cleared.

While ocean-vessel traffic was stemmed, buses, street cars and railway facilities suffered delay. Four serious accidents in the city were reported to police, but none had proved fatal.

HEAVY SNOW, GALE SWEEPS CHICAGO.

Chicago, December 30.—(United Press.)—A heavy snowstorm, accompanied by strong winds, descended upon Chicago today. Temperatures were dropping perceptibly tonight and near zero temperatures are forecast for tomorrow.

HUNGRY WOLVES ATTACK TWO WOMEN.

Berlin, December 30.—(United Press.)—Large packs of wolves, driven by cold and hunger, attacked two women and devoured four snugglers near the Russian frontier, according to reports from Warsaw.

Farmers passing between Novopolnia and Nowogruek rescued the women, who were badly injured. The Polish government has sent troops against the wolves.

SCOUTS SNOWBOUND IN THE MOUNTAINS.

Modesto, Calif., December 30.—(United Press.)—Snowbound near the lofty peaks of the Sierra Nevada mountains, 22 Boy Scouts were the objective of a hazardous rescue crew of more than 50 men fighting their way through miles of heavy snowdrifts today.

Communication in the mountains was disrupted by the snowfall and the boys, averaging between 12 and 14 years old, have been unheard from since yesterday. They left last week on a camping expedition to Pine Crest, 33 miles above Sonora, Calif., under the leadership of Vernon Baird, scout executive.

The scouts went into the mountains in two automobiles, and mountain residents say the cars must be left in the snow all winter and that the members of the party must leave the hills on foot.

There was three feet of snow at Long Barn today and it was deeper in the higher altitudes. The rescue party, headed by Charles Noack, woodsman, expected to dig its way through the snow 15 miles to the stranded boys.

SIX-YEAR-OLD GIRL KILLED IN CRASH OF AUTOMOBILES

Columbus, Ga., December 30.—(United Press.)—Lula Jettie Atkinson, six-year-old girl, died tonight at the City hospital as the result of injuries sustained this afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding with her mother collided with a car driven by Cliff Howard, a blacksmith at Fort Benning.

Howard is held without bond on a murder charge. He was originally booked at police headquarters on a charge of driving a car while drunk, which was changed to one of murder when the little girl died at 11:15 o'clock tonight.

SMALL SAFE STOLEN FROM FILLING STATION

A small safe, containing about $40 and valuable papers, was stolen from a Reed Oil company filling station at Boulevard and East Fair street Friday night. Entrance was gained by breaking a glass window near the safe, which was carried away in an automobile.

Night Club Raided.

New York, December 30.—(United Press.)—Chez Helen Morgan, one of New York's most gorgeous night clubs, was dismantled by federal prohibition agents early today after they arrested Miss Morgan and eight male employees, seized a dozen bottles of liquor, and spent two and one-half hours questioning 350 guests.

"Aristocratic" Bullfrogs Tickle Scientists' Palates

Biological Exhibit Eaten at Nashville Meet

Nashville, Tenn., December 30.—(United Press.)—Fifteen Louisiana bullfrogs today completed their contribution to science.

Having served their purpose as a biological exhibit at the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, they were cooked and their palates at that state submitted to the palates of about 25 scientists and prominent citizens.

"They were, of course, scientific bullfrogs, aristocrats of the species individuals that didn't just grow but were especially bred with a view to development of their higher qualities—tenderness, flavor and size—in the Atchafalaya section of Louisiana."

The frogs had served, since Monday, as prominent members of an exhibit of "wet land" products of Louisiana, which was arranged under the direction of Percy Viosca, Jr., state director of fisheries. His records show that more than 1,000,000 frogs, which he holds say about $1 a pound, had been shipped out of the state since the beginning of the year.

Cultivation of frogs for market is a somewhat recent development in the fisheries industry of the state, most of those exported being of the wild variety. Many of them, however, are about 25 times the size of the edible frogs commonly found in the north, and Viosca expects them to become an increasing important part of the state's natural resources.

Louisiana fishermen, Viosca said, already are receiving $25,000,000 a year for their catches of shrimp, crabs and frogs. That, he believes, is clear evidence of the value to the state of its "wet lands," drainage of which for agricultural purposes has been advocated by a number of public and private leaders.

which will be held here in honor of the forthcoming visit of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The president of the republic, Dr. Romero Bosque, accompanied by all members of his cabinet and the diplomatic corps will be present at the Llopang flying field to welcome the aviator, together with members of the consular body, high public officials and prominent members of the local society.

From the flying field Lindbergh will be taken to the presidential mansion, where a toast will be drunk in his honor. Afterward a formal reception will take place in the Red hall of the national palace, where the president of the republic will present a commemorative gold medal.

MOTHER SEES SON'S EXHIBIT OF TROPHIES.

St. Louis, Mo., December 30.—(United Press.)—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh today viewed for the first time the Missouri Historical society's exhibit of trophies awarded to her son, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, after his transatlantic flight and American tour.

She expressed herself as "delighted" to the collection she gave a Basket, made of hand-carved shells, which was presented to her on her visit to Mexico City to spend Christmas with her son. She said she would send many other mementos now stored at her home in Detroit.

Mrs. Lindbergh was enabled to visit Jefferson Memorial building in Forest park, where the exhibit has been viewed by thousands, when the plane on which she is traveling back to Detroit was held here for the day because of inclement flying weather.

Weather permitting, she will fly to Detroit tomorrow.

SEEKS PROMOTION FOR AVIATOR.

Little Rock, Ark., December 30.—(United Press.)—Promotion of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh of the Missouri national guard, to assistant chief of the militia bureau with the rank of brigadier general is suggested by Adjutant General Joe S. Harris, of Arkansas, in a letter today to Major General Creed C. Hammond, chief of the militia bureau.

Adjutant General Harris suggested that steps be taken to initiate congressional legislation whereby Colonel Lindbergh's services may be retained in national guard aeronautics.

FAMILIES TO SUE CITY FOR DEATHS IN FEUD

Jasper, Tenn., December 30.—(United Press.)—Damage suits asking $100,000 from the city of South Pittsburg and the H. Wetter Manufacturing company are to be filed in behalf of the families of the late Sheriff Wash Copinger and deputies, slain in the gun battle at South Pittsburg last Sunday. It was announced here today.

It is said that the claim for damages will be based on the alleged illegal arming of officers in connection with labor troubles at the Wetter plant. A member of the county court, which meets Monday to elect a successor to Sheriff Copinger, said today that Turner Copinger, son of the slain sheriff, is almost the unanimous choice for the office. Turner Copinger is now chief deputy.

SALVADOR TO FETE FLIER TOMORROW.

San Salvador, Salvador, December 30.—(United Press.)—The last touches have been given to the program of festivities which will be held in honor of the safe landing of the American air hero, that the reception committee was forced to link arms and to form a protecting cordon about the aviator in order that he might be taken to the golf club.

Colonel Lindbergh made the 250 mile flight in 3 hours and 25 minutes, landing here at 9:35 a. m. local time (10:45 a. m. eastern standard time). He was five minutes early, for he had estimated that it would take three and one-half hours to cover the distance over rough and difficult terrain where a landing would have been perilous.

At the golf club the American good will ambassador was welcomed to the colony formally by Governor Sir John Burdon, the chief justice and all the prominent officials of the city.

When the cheering masses in front of and inside of the club house could no longer stand, the mayor read his address of welcome. He said that in honoring the colony with his visit, he hoped that Colonel Lindbergh also would be making it better known abroad.

Lindbergh will leave Sunday for San Salvador.

MARRIED IN 1925.

Mr. Connolly was married on April 13, 1925, to Miss Dorothy Copeland, of Auburn, N. Y., who survives him, together with two small children, Sally Patricia and Thomas W. Connolly, Jr., now two months old. He also is survived by his father, Dr. R. Connolly, Atlanta's oldest citizen; three sisters, Mrs. John S. Spalding, Mrs. H. Warner Martin and Mrs. Hal F. Hentz. His uncles and aunts are ex-Governor Joseph M. Brown, of Georgia; George M. Brown, Miss Sally Eugenia Brown, Mrs. Luther Z. Rosser, Sr., and Paul F. Connolly, all of Atlanta. His mother, Mrs. Mary V. Connolly, universally beloved throughout Atlanta, died about two months ago. He was a grandnephew of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Connolly and Senator and Mrs. Joseph Emerson Brown. His brother, Joseph W. Connolly, died several years ago.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon from the Second Baptist church, details to be announced later through H. M. Patterson & Son, funeral directors, in charge. William A. Parker, local president of the Chi Phi Alumni association, announced Friday that an honorary escort, composed of members of the fraternity, would be appointed to attend the funeral.

Members of the Emory University Alumni association have been requested by officials of the association to attend the funeral services in a body.

CHARGE NEGRO KILLED BOY FOUND IN BAYOU SET NEW LIFT RECORD

U. S. ENDURANCE FLIERS

Chatfield, Ark., December 30.—(United Press.)—Blamed by a coroner's jury for the death by drowning of Julius McCollum, 11, Elbert Thomas, negro, was the object of a wide search by sheriff's deputies and citizens tonight.

Absence of water in the boy's lungs when his body was taken from a bayou near here last night led officers to the belief he had been held by his heels and his head submerged in the stream. His boots, in which he carried his money, were missing, giving credence to a robbery motive.

The boy left his father's store about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon with Thomas to set some traps across the bayou. About 25 minutes later, Grady Swain, negro, testified before the coroner, he saw Thomas coming from the bayou at a "half trot."

When the boy did not arrive at his home for dinner search was started and his body was found.

Daytona Beach, Fla., December 30.—(United Press.)—A new world's record for being the first aviators to lift a 6,000-pound load off the ground with a 200-horsepower motor was claimed tonight by William S. Brock and Edward S. Schlee, globe trotting aviators, despite their failure to get away in two attempts today on their attempt to set a new endurance record.

The huge Stinson-Detroit monoplane, Pride of Detroit, in which the two pilots flew from New York to Japan in 19 days, carried a capacity load of 6,000 pounds, equivalent to 30 pounds per square foot on wing surface, as it rose over the beach today, only to be forced back to earth because of ignition trouble.

The aviators announced tonight they would make another attempt tomorrow, if weather conditions continued favorable.

CHURCH IS BARRED BY IOWA COLLEGE

Des Moines, Iowa, December 30.—(United News.)—Controversy over Modernist doctrines in the Baptist church have resulted in a definite split between authorities of Des Moines university, stronghold of the fundamentalists, and more liberal members of the denomination.

The smouldering quarrel over accepted theology took the form of ousting the University Baptist church from the campus of the institution "because the church was unable to provide Biblical instruction and inspiration for the students of the university," although the order for the church to stop using the university chapel was to become effective February 1, members of the church asserted they would seek other quarters at once, and would not return to the campus.

Principals Are Silent.

Principals of both sides of the controversy were unavailable. Rev. George M. Derbyshire, of the church, was critically ill with pneumonia, and Dr. T. T. Shields, president of the university, was reported to be at his home in Toronto, Canada.

Des Moines university is under control of the Baptist Bible Union of North America, a strictly fundamentalist organization. The union took over the university early last summer and forced all instructors to signify acceptance of the doctrine of the virgin birth of Christ or leave the institution.

The Iowa Baptist convention has refused officially to sanction the university, or to support it, and this action was believed partially responsible for the break with members of the church. Used Chapel Seven Years.

Members of the church declined to make any statement of their position until the Rev. Derbyshire has recovered, but insisted they would not alter any doctrinal stands previously taken, nor solicit the good will of the Bible Union.

Motor Car Thief "Plays Possum," To Win Freedom

This is one of those touching little dramas which come to light from time to time, on the police ledger at headquarters. The time is Friday night and the scene is change.

Act I.

P. F. Oakes, of Mountain View, Ga., and his friends emerge from a downtown theater, to find that Mr. Oakes' automobile, which had been parked so safely a couple of hours before, had vanished.

Act II.

The scene shifts to the corner of DeKalb and Moreland avenues, and the time is some time previous. An automobile, at a high rate of speed comes dashing down the street and crashed into the police patrol, good old "Black Maria," operated by Officers Clem C. Carroll and M. S. Barton.

The driver of the car is tossed to the pavement by the impact, and he starts to arise, but on seeing the police officers he resumes his prostrate position, and begins having "fits," tossing from side to side and throwing his hands to his head.

The officers hurriedly summon a private ambulance from Harry G. Poole and a quick run to Grady hospital is made.

Act III.

At Grady hospital, the "injured" man is rushed in to the operating table, and doctors begin preparing their tools for a possible operation on the brain. The man mumbles his name as "Brooks" and his address as "Flora avenue." Then, when all have left the room for a moment, the "victim" gets off the table and dashes out of the hospital into the driving rain.

Act IV.

At police headquarters notes were compared and the automobile found to be the property of the central character in Act I. The police then decided they had been "skunked" and are now pushing a vigorous search for the man who "played possum" on them.

TOY WEAPONS EXACT TOLL OF CHILDREN

"Blank" pistols and other toy weapons continue to exact their toll of juvenile casualties, with five such accident victims treated Friday at Grady hospital.

Leonard Small, 10 years old, of 120 Hutchins street, was treated for injuries inflicted by an air rifle. Robert H. Gerral, 11 years old, of 1908 Warlick street, was also treated for injuries inflicted by "BB" shot.

"Blank" pistols sent Dot Evans, 15 years old, of 427 East Fair street; Cyril Glosion, 14 years old, of 151 Walton street; and R. B. Owens, 12 years old, of 965 West street, to Grady hospital with minor burns and injuries.

First "Broken Toy" Week

Atlanta will observe a new kind of "week" beginning Monday, when the Salvation Army's social service center will sponsor what is said to be the first "broken toy week" ever observed in America. Its object will be to bring belated Christmas gifts to sick children in homes Santa Claus failed to find.

Plans were announced Friday by Staff Captain W. H. Range, commander of the social service center, following conferences with welfare workers of the Salvation Army and other agencies supported by the Atlanta Community Chest.

The toys will be collected by the social service center's trucks and wagons. Families who have toys to give are asked to call Ivy 2224.

PAL OF DOTY BARES LEGION CRUELITIES

London, December 30.—(AP)—Johnny Harvey, the young Englishman recently pardoned by the French Foreign Legion, after being sentenced to eight years' imprisonment for desertion, is quoted today by the Evening Standard as saying that he "now has no illusions about the foreign legion."

"I have been struck by officers and have been kicked while lying down with my hands and feet in chains. I have crawled about the desert with a thirst that would almost break a man's heart. I witnessed scenes of such barbarity in French prison that seem incredible. Now that they are behind me, do you wonder why I am so bitter about the Foreign Legion?"

Harvey was released unconditionally from the Foreign Legion after the British foreign office intervened in his behalf. Benoit J. Doty, the spectacular Mississippi, who also was pardoned from the legion after having been sentenced to eight years' imprisonment for desertion, said on his arrival in America that while the French Foreign Legion accorded him a "square deal," it was no "young ladies' seminary."

GRAYSON PLANE LOST A WEEK; HOPE GONE

New York, December 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and her three-man crew of the amphibian plane Dawn had been missing for a full week tonight, and there was virtually no hope that they were still alive.

Just after 5 o'clock in the afternoon last Friday Mrs. Grayson, Lieutenant Oscar Omdal, Brice Goldsborough and Fred Koepler took off from Roosevelt field for Harbor Grace, N. F. From there all but Koepler, an engine expert, planned to fly to Europe.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the plane was heard passing over Cape Cod, full on its course. But after that silence enshrouded the plane's progress and when the Dawn failed to reach its destination search was instituted.

It is thought possible that the courts will be asked to pass on the legality of the Neill act, which further restricts the state department's power to appropriate funds, which will be limited to 75 per cent of the individual receipts and paid on warrants signed by the governor.

Up until this time many of the state's departments, bureaus, boards and agencies have collected fees and revenues for their own maintenance, turning over to the treasury, at a date not exceeding six months after the expiration of the year for which they were appropriated, such balances as may have accrued.

Under the Neill act all departments with the exception of the banking department must make requisition for operating funds, which will be limited to 75 per cent of the individual receipts and paid on warrants signed by the governor.

FEWER JOBS OPEN FOR 1928 THAN IN 1926

New York, December 30.—A year-end survey of employment conditions conducted by the United News in the major cities of the United States reveals that more persons are out of work now than at this time a year ago.

In the main the unemployment is the result of purely local conditions having no direct connection with national economic or political conditions. In Massachusetts, for example, there was a 4.3 per cent decrease in factory employment, which the bureau of labor and industry blamed on curtailment of production in the textile mills. In Buffalo the state employment bureau reported that conditions for workers were worse than at any time since 1921, due to a slowing down in the automobile industry and trades depending on it.

In New York city, where breadlines have been longer than usual during the holiday season and where charities are being called upon for unusual outlays, thousands of men are working part time schedules and thousands more are unable to find any work at all. Richard Flynn, chief of the division of employment, estimated that 11 per cent more persons were out of jobs now than a year ago.

Social workers in Chicago, gateway to the west, told the United News that the present winter is the worst since the big business slump in 1921. The state employment bureau said there were three applicants for every job in the city limits where it was discovered some hours later.

Stoutly denying his guilt, Dr. McMillan admitted to the officers that he had been in the doctor's apartment with the woman and handled her business affairs. Since meeting her, his bank account has swollen, the officers asserted. Dr. McMillan was taken to the spot today where the slain woman was found and there also denied his guilt.

In the meantime the investigating officers have found two pairs of Mrs. Appleby's shoes in the doctor's apartment. There were no shoes on the body when found. Blood stains were found on one of his coats and on a pair of his slacks. The accused man explained he was subject to nose bleed.

Had Four Bank Accounts.

The physician denied he and Mrs. Appleby had traveled as man and wife on a trip east. It was during that trip that the will of the woman was written in a Duluth hotel. It was dated November 8, 1927.

Investigators today found four bank accounts in the doctor's name, with deposits totaling between $1,000 and $2,000. He said he had saved this money to help his wife, who was ill, and to handle her affairs, he said.

Although he holds a Missouri medical diploma, the doctor said he had no medical training in California. Mrs. McMillan tonight declared she would stand by her husband. The couple have a ten-year-old daughter, Dorothy, a vaudeville dancer.

$1,000 CHECK GIVEN TO GRADY HOSPITAL

A check for $1,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Sarah Davidson Moore was received Friday by Grady hospital, for use of the institution.

Charles Hart left $2,000 to the institution. The check was delivered by Charles Hunter and Henry E. Patterson, executors. It was turned over to the hospital comptroller to be added to Grady funds.

BEVERLY HILLS, DENIES

Los Angeles, Calif., December 30.—(AP)—Faced with new evidence tending to link him with the slaying of Mrs. Amelia Appleby, widow of a wealthy Chicago inventor, Dr. C. M. McMillan met a steady barrage of questions from official investigators tonight with "I didn't kill her—I didn't kill her."

Finger print experts were set to work examining a will giving all of Mrs. Appleby's fortune to the 57-year-old physician after officials announced the terms of the will apparently were in the handwriting of Dr. McMillan while the signature was that of Mrs. Appleby. Dr. McMillan denied knowing about the will.

Police also located a piece of canvas matching the sack tied about Mrs. Appleby's body when it was found by a roadside last Monday. The canvas fitted a place cut in the sack that had been put around the woman's body, officers said.

Reconstruct Murder.

Officers said they were able to reconstruct the murder of the woman who inherited a fortune estimated at close to a million dollars from her husband, John F. Appleby.

They claimed Mrs. Appleby was killed in her own home and that the body was found in the sack, later, later to be transported by her lawyer to the point near the city limits where it was discovered some hours later.

Stoutly denying his guilt, Dr. McMillan admitted to the officers that he had been in the doctor's apartment with the woman and handled her business affairs. Since meeting her, his bank account has swollen, the officers asserted. Dr. McMillan was taken to the spot today where the slain woman was found and there also denied his guilt.

ACCOMPLICE JAILED IN KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, December 30.—(United News.)—Frank J. Bernoulli, accomplice of Edward Hickman, confessed slayer of Little Marjorie Parker, of Los Angeles, is ready to atone for his misdeeds.

In his cell at police headquarters today, Bernoulli lamented his participation in two holdups with Hickman here and blamed the "fox" for Welby Hunt's implication in the murder of Ivy Thomas, Los Angeles druggist.

TROJANS HOLD FAST PRACTICE UPON ARRIVAL

Pasadena, Calif., December 30.—(AP)—Stanford university's football squad, 38 strong and in prime condition, was met by a snappy drill on the Rose Bowl gridiron shortly after their arrival today in preparation for their game with the Pittsburgh Panthers next Monday.

"Pop" Warner, veteran Stanford coach, said that his men were nearer to perfect condition than at any time during the season just closed.

"We realize that we are not the favorites in the coming battle," said Captain Hal McCree, "and I believe that this fact will have a beneficial effect on the team."

Cards Welcomed.

Tournament or Roses officials, under whose auspices Monday's game will be played, prominent Stanford alumni, in Law Laplante, green star chosen as mascot of the Cardinals, headed the reception committee who met the Cardinals at the railroad station.

Coach J. B. Sutherland and his stable of 24 Panthers from Pittsburgh are due here tomorrow morning. It is expected that the Panthers will work out at the Rose Bowl in the afternoon after Stanford finishes a light practice.

Big Court Battle For Mick Walker

Freehold, N. J., December 30.—(United News.)—Edward "Mick" Walker, a former professional boxer, was made defendant in a $102,500 damage suit here today.

Last September 25, in Shrewsbury, Mass., Walker, an automobile driver, was involved in a collision with an automobile. The five persons in the other car were treated for various injuries at the Woodbury hospital, Rev. Bank.

Mrs. Mary Garino, of Highland Park, asks $75,000 damages; her husband, John, seeks $10,000; his cousin, Joseph Garino, wants $2,000; Mrs. Frances Viscusi, of Highland Park, $10,000; and her husband, Alfonso, $5,000.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The reverting to 1928 rules in football again as it concerns the lateral pass will probably meet with little interest in Dixie as most coaches have expressed the opinion that the much talked of play brought no noticeable change in the game last season from that of previous years.

In fact, the number of touchdowns scored on the lateral play in major games in the South could have been counted on the fingers of one hand. Vanderbilt counted one early in the season, Crowley of Georgia Tech scored on one from the seven yard line against North Carolina and one of two others were successful.

Few coaches made any effort to develop the lateral play, most expressing belief at the outset of the season that it would last only one year.

Nevertheless, it was probably the most widely heralded change in play that football in the South has seen in years.

Those were those who thought it would make football into a basketball game on a large scale; others thought it would revolutionize the orthodox passing methods; some expressed the opinion that it would bring a good passing light team up to the standard of a heavier, better running and more fundamentally drilled eleven.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(adv.)

Coaches Vote To Abolish Lateral Pass

Favor Return of Old Ruling Where Fumbling Made Ball a Free One.

BY ALAN J. GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.
New York, December 30.—(AP)—College football coaches will have a bigger voice even if not a bigger vote in their effort to put over at least two changes in play gridiron rules for 1928.

After going on record today in favor of abolishing this year's new rule affecting the use of the lateral pass and recovery of a muffed punt, the American Football Coaches' association, at their annual meeting, accepted an invitation to have their representatives sit as "observers and advisers" with the national football rules committee.

Hall Extends Invitation.
This invitation was extended to the coaches by Edward K. Hall, of New York, chairman of the rules committee. It was generally regarded as a compromise arrangement growing out of the insistence of the coaches upon having more to do with making the rules of the game that they teach from one end of the country to the other.

The coaches already have five of the ten places on the rules committee, as evidenced yesterday by the national collegiate athletic association, but it was their desire to have even closer contact with the rule-making body. As a result, on Mr. Hall's invitation, they named Knute Rockne, of Notre Dame; Hugo Bezdek, of Penn State; and Bill Spaulding, of the University of California, (southern branch) to sit with the rules committee at its 1928 sessions. In effect the coaches thus will have eight representatives at these deliberations.

In gaining this concession, however, Mr. Hall pointed out that the coaches are merely being accorded the same privilege which for several years has been granted to officials. It has been customary to have three officials sit as observers and advisers, with the rule-makers. Mr. Hall said tonight he expects to invite again the three officials who sat with the committee last winter, namely, Dr. E. J. O'Brien, of Tufts; Walter Eckersall, of Chicago; and Walter R. Oskow, of Lehigh.

This will enable the committee to get the benefit of all points of view," Mr. Hall explained. "The coaches feel that they should have representatives of their own choosing and, on my own authority, I issued the invitation to them."

Do Not Agree.
So far as the rules are concerned, the coaches do not altogether agree with the "stand pat" attitude of Mr. Hall, whose report yesterday stressed the rules committee's satisfaction with the present code and opposition to any further changes of importance. However, in recommending a return to the 1926 rules governing the lateral pass and muffed punt, the coaches acted more in a desire to eliminate confusion over these rules than because of any decided opposition to the changes themselves.

It was only after a sharp and prolonged debate, however, that the association decided to recommend these two changes. The vote to remove the new freedom given to use of the lateral pass was 56 to 16, but on the muffed punt rule it was much closer, 57 to 35. Muffed punts this year have been declared dead at the point of recovery, but the coaches want a return to the method permitting a player to run with a recovered punt.

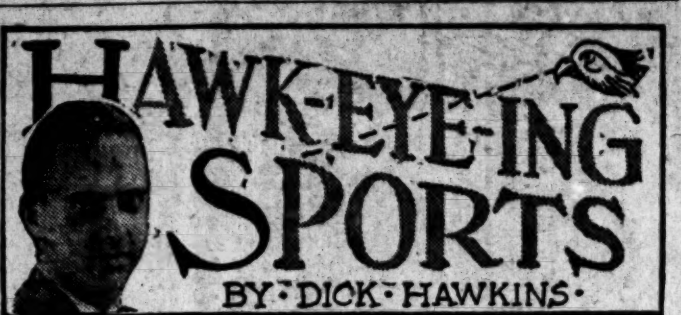

Outside of these two points, however, the coaches put their stamp of approval after a season's trial on the 1927 changes in the gridiron rules, including the one-second stop for the shift and the removal of the goal posts to their new position, 10 yards behind the goal line.

W. W. Roper, of Princeton, was elected president of the association to succeed W. H. Cowell, University of New Hampshire.

Hugo Bezdek, of Penn State, was chosen first vice president; Dr. J. W. Wilce, Ohio State, second vice president; and H. C. Byrd, University of Maryland, secretary-treasurer.

Trustees Elected.
Trustees for the ensuing year will be: W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech; Knute Rockne, Notre Dame; John F. Meehan, New York University; and Glenn S. Warner, Stanford.

District representatives follow: First, Arthur Sampson, Tufts; second, Lou Young, Penn.; third, J. P. Harrison, Washington and Lee; fourth, George Woodruff, Georgia; fifth, Dr. C. W. Spaulding, Minnesota; sixth, O. M. Solom, Drake; seventh, H. W. Hughes, Colorado Aggies; eighth, Knute Rockne, Notre Dame; ninth, W. H. Cowell, University of New Hampshire.

Don't Croak; It's Early Yet.

Another day or two and Coach Roy Mundorff will be "on the pan" and there will be considerable talk about selecting a new basketball coach for the Jackets. Of course "the pan" will have no official connection with Georgia Tech or any other official connection for that matter.

But Coach Roy is sure to get the usual criticism because the Jackets dropped a hard-fought game to the Albany "Y" Tuesday night. Just a few moments ago one of the croakers said to us, "Well I guess Tech will have another great team this year, they started out fine by letting that little old Albany 'Y' team set them back."

He was immediately informed that the "little old Albany team" was strong enough last year to place one of three blemishes on the record of the Atlanta Athletic club, one of the strongest independent teams in the south.

And what if Tech had been beaten by the Rinky Dinks? It's too early to sob anyway. There is no reason why Tech should not have another good team this year. It is entirely possible that they are actually on the floor but they were a bit too "spotty" in his play to be the star he should have been.

If the material at Tech is as good as it should be with Captain Nick George, Frank Platter, Ralph Bullard, Ben Lagen, "Wax" Waxbaum back from the old guard and Heeke, Oltz and other freshmen on tap in case of need, Roy Mundorff will make another good team. No need to lose any sleep over these practice games. They are just that, and every loss on this practice trip will give Coach Roy just one more hunch to work on.

Big Card for Ringside.

The coming of the new year will bring several new sport ventures and it will begin the second chapter for one venture in Atlanta which had its birth this year. We speak of the Ringside club where articles of fistfight are sold at clearance prices because of the small overhead.

The closing of this year finds Burr Miller and Jimmy Mayson in no mood for hilarious rejoicing. Frankly the Ringside club is no gold mine at present but they have hopes of finding some of that proverbial balm in the Gilead of 1928. And they should have high hopes.

In the first place, they are giving the customers the worth of their money in what the public wants to see—bloody damage. There hasn't been a card yet at the Ringside club that hasn't featured at least one knockout in four fights and most of the cards run a much higher percentage than that.

On Tuesday night, which is the third day of the New Year, Larry Avera will return to the squared circle in Atlanta once more and on the same card little Tim O'Dowd is scheduled to make his first appearance in several years in Atlanta.

Both of these lads are favorites and they alone should draw a bigger house than the Ringside club has seen thus far.

Changing Times—

Times are certainly changing. First comes news that Gentleman Gene Tunney has been elected a member of the famous "Millionsaires" club of New York and then we hear that Sammy Baker is offering his contract for sale to anyone who will pay him ten grand for the privilege of acting as his manager.

Just try and imagine John L. Sullivan or Bob Fitzsimmons or Jim Jeffries being elected to any such club even if they were possessed of three times a million dollars. Also try and vision any one of the above mentioned fighters getting anything like a ten grand bonus for giving a contract back in the days when fighters fought for their titles and did not choose to run.

SELIGSON WINS AL WATROUS WAY TO FINAL LEADS $2,500 ROUND AT N. Y. GOLF TOURNEY

New York, December 30.—(AP)—Julius Seligson, of Lehigh, took another step toward a third straight victory in the national junior indoor tennis championship today. In the semi-final round he won easily from C. Alphonso Smith, University of Virginia, 6-0, 6-0. Tomorrow he will clash in the finals with Frank Shields, Columbia Grammar school, New York, who advanced today at the expense of Eddie Jacobs, University of Pittsburgh star, 6-4, 6-1.

Seligson completely outclassed his opponent throughout the match. Smith could not handle his low hard drives from the base line, and frequently was passed when he tried to take the net. Shields had more difficulty with Jacobs, but after trailing 4-2 in the first set he found himself and took nine straight games.

In the semi-finals of the boys' tournament William Jacobs, of Baltimore City college, boys' outdoor champion, defeated Sidney Seligson, New York, 6-3, 6-2; and Peter Cary, Williston academy, defeated Richard Rossheim, Germantown, Pa., 6-1, 5-7, 6-4.

Los Angeles, December 30.—(AP)—Cards of 69, three strokes below par on the ocean-bordering Palos Verdes Country club course, put Al Watrous, veteran Grand Rapids, Mich., golfer, and Fred Morrison, of Los Angeles, to the fore of the field of linksmen that participated today in the first 18 holes of qualifying play in the $2,500 open tournament.

But one stroke behind these two pace setters trekked home "Light-horse" Harry Cooper, of Los Angeles, while to complete the list of those who toured the tricky course below or at even par figures came another professional, Eddie Loose, of Los Angeles, who made it in 71, even par.

Two other pros tied with cards of 72 for next place honors. They were Hutt Martin, of Reno, Nev., and Jack Tarrant, of the Encino Country club, near here. Next in line were three others in a tie—Bob Clark, of Alameda, Cal.; Olin Duira, of Fresno, Cal.; and Dallas Jeffers, of Corona, Cal., each with 73.

Tommy Armour, of Washington, D. C., who won the national open, shared with 12 others the 74-stroke division. They included George von Elm, of Los Angeles, former national amateur champion; Joe Turnesa and Tony Manero, of Elmsford, N. Y.; Harold Sampson, of Burlingame, Cal.; Abe Espinosa and Gordon Wright, of Chicago; MacDonald Smith, Great Neck, Long Island; Harold Beer, San Francisco; Eric Bannister, Winnipeg, and Neil Christian, Portland, Ore.

50,000 To See Quakers Play Bears Today

Great Passing Battle Expected When Two Teams Clash on Coast.

Berkeley, Calif., December 30.—(AP) Pennsylvania and California, friendly gridiron rivals since the first day of 1925, will renew football relations here tomorrow in a game expected to furnish a fair test between eastern and western styles of play.

Under favorable weather conditions, 50,000 or more persons are expected to see the big university eleven clash in Memorial stadium where three years ago California's Bears humbled the Pennsylvania Quakers 14-0.

The game also will be the occasion for paying homage to Andrew Latham Smith, California's famed coach who died in the latter part of 1925. Smith was an alumnus and former coach of Pennsylvania and alumni and members of the eastern school will join in dedicating a memorial bench to the former football leader.

A Strong Eleven.
Representing Pennsylvania will be the same team that defeated Harvard, Columbia and Cornell in impressive fashion during the regular season, while California's eleven will differ but little from the squad that carried the Blue and Gold colors in the 1927 campaign.

Both teams finished long training camps with brief exercises today while Coaches Lou Young, Pennsylvania, and "Nibs" Price, California, announced that the players are in mid-season form.

A wide open, passing game is looked for from both sides. Pennsylvania features an aerial attack while California has been drilled steadily in this style of play since the regular season closed.

Yanks Purchase 2 New Players

New York, December 30.—(AP)—The New York Yankees today announced the outright release of Joe Giard, pitcher, and infielder Ray Morehart to the St. Paul American association club. Both players came to the Yankees in deals made last winter, Giard from the St. Louis Browns and Morehart from Chicago with Catcher Grabowski in the deal that sent Aaron Ward to the White Sox.

Women Golfers To Meet Wednesday

The Atlanta Women's Golf association will hold its annual meeting next Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at the Biltmore hotel.

At this meeting many important matters such as the schedule for the coming season and election of officers, will be taken up. It is earnestly desired that all members of the association be present.

TAYLOR LOSES TO CANZONERI IN 10 ROUNDS

BY FRANK GETTY.
Madison Square Garden, New York, December 30.—Tony Canzoneri, Brooklyn featherweight, fought his way to a chance at the 126-pound title by outpointing Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute, in a fast ten-round bout before 14,000 spectators, in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The margin by which the little Italian triumphed was a small one, Taylor coming fast in the closing rounds. But Tony won the nod of the judges and referee and so will be matched with Benny Basa, of Philadelphia, in a bout for the featherweight championship of the world.

Canzoneri, more a natural 126-pounder than his opponent, who still holds the bantamweight championship, according to the National Boxing association, was the stronger of the pair and piled up a commanding lead in the early rounds.

Taylor, although he was said to have built himself up for the bout, did not appear strong, and was able to fight his best only in spurts.

The Brooklyn boxer, on the other hand, was always ready to mix things and force the fighting, even in the sixth, seventh and eighth rounds, when Bud fought his best and threatened to come along fast enough to win.

Tony's Knees Sag.
In the seventh round Taylor crossed his right to the jaw with a smash which made Tony's knees sag, and for the last minute of the round the Italian was in distress.

Greater stamina enabled Tony to come back and keep everlastingly on top of Taylor, however, and at the finish the judges decided that Canzoneri had won.

It was the third meeting between the pair. The first resulted in a draw and Taylor won the second.

Larry Avera And Shepherd In Main Bout

Thirty Rounds of Boxing at Ringside Club Tuesday Night.

Starting the new year with high hopes of a big season the newly organized Ringside club on Mitchell street will offer a show of 30 rounds of boxing Tuesday night.

The main event boys have been selected, according to Matchmaker Jimmie Mayson. Larry Avera, Atlanta battler, will meet Jack Shepherd, of Cincinnati, in the feature bout of the evening. Local fans know of Avera's ring ability. He has boxed around these parts for some five years. Avera, in his last bouts, has hung up four knockouts. Shepherd comes to Atlanta with a very impressive record for his ring attempts. He has fought some of the best boys in the east and has victories over many of them.

This scrap should furnish plenty of entertainment for the fans as both boys fight on the same style, according to Mayson, who has seen Avera and Shepherd box several times. And for that reason Mayson selected these two fighters for his main bout on the next show.

Jones on Card.
Casey Jones, who is well liked by patrons of the new club, will again be seen in action. Jones will face Battling Stein in the semi-final go. This bout will be eight rounds and should bring forth plenty of action. Jones, in his last appearance, did not look so good and this time he will try and make up for it.

Matchmaker Mayson stated Friday night that he expects to be able to announce the complete card Sunday. He is busy trying to bring several well-known boys in for his next show and says he will give the fans a good one.

Tickets are now on sale at Hack Eibel's billiard parlor.

Add Warren Wins Second Pro Bout

Charlotte, N. C., December 30.—(AP) Add Warren, University of North Carolina, heavyweight, won his second professional ring engagement tonight when he knocked out Jack Middleton, of Jacksonville, Fla., in the second round of a scheduled 12-round bout.

The champion's route to the crown this year was beset with tight matches throughout the preliminary rounds. He was forced to 20 holes yesterday to eliminate Phillips Finlay in the semi-final round.

Dunlap's accurate putting today proved the deciding factor and his steady iron work pulled him out of repeated difficulties.

Coaches Are Urged To Keep Injured Men Out of Game

New York, December 30.—(AP) Addressing the Football Coaches' association today Dr. T. K. Richards, of Harvard, urged that coaches turn an attentive ear to their physicians, stressing the importance of keeping injured men out of football games. In addition to the danger of serious physical hurt to the player, he declared that an injured athlete can not help his team.

Clark D. Shaugnessy, coach of Loyola, New Orleans, told the coaches the "welcome they might expect when they visit New Orleans next year."

W. W. Roper, Princeton coach, spoke on quarterback strategy. Knute Rockne, Notre Dame, told of defenses against the forward pass, and D. N. Bible, Texas A. & M., discussed styles of play used in the southwest.

Roper favored individual instruction for quarterbacks which are divided into two classes, strategists and players. If forced to a choice he said he would take the strategist who is a poor player against the good player who is a poor strategist.

Rockne brought his fellow coaches up laughing by saying that at his football coaching schools his pupils frequently know all about blocking and tackling but are at the school looking for a good scoring play from midfield.

"I join them in the search," he said.

Dunlap Is Winner Of N. C. Tourney

Pinehurst, N. C., December 30.—(AP) George T. Dunlap, Jr., of New York, won the midwinter championship here today for the third consecutive year when he defeated Eugene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., 1 up in 20 holes. His final opponent last year also was Homans.

The champion's route to the crown this year was beset with tight matches throughout the preliminary rounds. He was forced to 20 holes yesterday to eliminate Phillips Finlay in the semi-final round.

Dunlap's accurate putting today proved the deciding factor and his steady iron work pulled him out of repeated difficulties.

Date Slip-Up May Cause Cancellation

Rockne Will Arrive in Atlanta Next Week To Confer With Officials on Game.

BY DICK HAWKINS.
For the benefit of those (and there are many) who are interested in the status of the Tech-Notre Dame football game for 1928 we rise to announce that the game is not off, as published recently.

Neither is it on. But negotiations are at white heat between Chip Robert, who makes the schedules for Tech, and Knute Rockne. Just at present it is a bit hard to see daylight through the muddle but Mr. Robert, Professor Armstrong and others who work with the schedule puzzle have not given up hope that the Irish game may be put over yet.

Briefly, the hitch in the Irish-Jacket schedule came about in this way according to Chip Robert: Notre Dame has a five-year contract with Tech based on a "relative Saturday" clause and Coach Rockne concluded in the making of his schedule that the "relative Saturday" in 1928 would be October 27 because it came on October 29 this year. But the calendar has moved up this year and the relative Saturday in 1928 falls on November 2, according to Tech authorities.

Tennessee has been angling for a game with Tech for some years and the Volunteer school has been told to stand by and await the outcome of the Tech-Notre Dame adjustment. It is possible that Tennessee may come here on November 3.

Notre Dame has an eastern college on its schedule for this date and Coach Rockne is now trying valiantly to make enough trades to leave the Tech date open but has not yet succeeded. On the other hand, Tech tried to adjust its schedule to put Notre Dame in here on October 27. But after making several satisfactory trades it struck an immovable object when one of the conference schools on the list was not able to make a change with an opponent.

Changing a schedule all around when more than a dozen conference schools must be considered, is a large game of chess and as yet no definite agreement has been reached but Knute Rockne will be in Atlanta to visit Chip Robert next week and some definite understanding is looked for at that time.

ousting of Peace Justice is Urged

Setting out that there had been gross irregularities in the operation of the justice of peace court of the 1615th district of Fulton county and that an organized ring of blackmailers had been using the court as the basis for their operations, the Fulton county grand jury in presentments returned Friday recommended the removal from office of Justice J. W. James.

This recommendation brings out a very peculiar situation. Justices of the peace are appointed by the grand jury and yet there is no law for the removal of the justices from office by the jury unless they are found guilty of an offense, in which event the judge of the superior court may discharge him.

In this case the jury has indicted the bailiff of the court, T. W. Bulfin, and other persons alleged to have been involved in the operations of the ring but efforts to secure an indictment of the justice himself failed because documents and records mysteriously disappeared from his office after subpoenas duces tecum had been issued. Investigation of the alleged blackmailing "ring" disclosed that warrants charging various crimes would be taken out in Justice James' court and the defendants forced to pay various sums to prevent prosecution.

The retiring November term grand jury devoted the entire presentments to the alleged blackmail scheme and after being commended for their service, were discharged by Judge G. H. Howard.

The grand jury also made a new departure in returning a single indictment against T. W. Bulfin, the bailiff and Bob Clay, in which they are charged with 12 separate transactions, including 21 counts with blackmail. The procedure, it was explained by attaches of the solicitor's staff, has the effect of giving the solicitor general the authority to proceed on all these charges at one time and not place the court to the expense and detail of trying the defendants separately on a distinct indictment in each case.

CHICAGO AVIATOR TO ARRIVE SUNDAY ON GOOD-WILL TRIP

With a message of good will for the Latin American peoples, Captain Joe Duellman, Chicago aviator, will reach Atlanta Sunday afternoon from Chicago on his way to tour the Spanish-speaking countries of the western hemisphere. Captain Duellman will stay in Atlanta until Monday morning, when he will take off from Candler field for Havana, Cuba, as the next stop.

The tour, taken in the interest of cementing trade alliances between the United States and Latin America, and to show the possibilities of aviation, will involve a voyage of 18,000 miles in a single motored biplane, the entire trip's expenses, including the plane and instruments, being estimated at $7,000.

The Atlanta Foreign Trade club will be in charge of the reception of Captain Duellman. It will be assisted by the chamber of commerce and the city officials, it was announced.

SALVATION ARMY PLANS TO GREET COMING OF 1928

The Salvation Army Corps of Atlanta will unite at the temple, Ellis and Ivy streets, for a Watchnight service at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night. Commissioner W. A. McIntyre will be in charge and will be assisted by Mrs. McIntyre and members of the Territorial Headquarters Staff. The training school principal together with the school staff and cadets will be present. The staff band will provide an appropriate musical program. The service is open to the public.

THREE ARE GRILLED IN AUTOMOBILE THEFT

Roger Hicks, 25, of Milledgeville; Herman Hambrick, 19, of Stone Mountain; and a girl were being questioned at police station Friday afternoon in connection with the theft of an automobile said to have been stolen from Pat H. Siken, of 520 Cameron street. Hicks and the girl were arrested in Macon Thursday and brought to Atlanta Friday while Hambrick was arrested here. They are being held on a blanket charge of suspicion.

Splendid Record Made Handling Christmas Mails

Handling of the nation's 1927 holiday mail was completed earlier and better than ever before despite the "two-day Christmas" which led many mailers to procrastinate in the belief that Monday delivery would answer the same purpose, according to information received Friday by Joe P. Johnston, postoffice inspector in charge of the Atlanta division, from the Washington headquarters of the postal service.

The information is based upon a canvass of approximately 100 telegrams sent to the postoffice inspectors of the larger offices throughout the country. In the movement of the mail load the postmasters were particularly conspicuous in announcing "everything clear," "quickest clean-up of all time," and "in better shape than ever before."

Reports from the railway mail service indicate a considerable increase, at least in the handling of parcels. From December 1 to 24, 24,913 storage cars were loaded with holiday mail as compared with 23,474 cars loaded during the same period of last year, an increase of 1,439 cars. The report of Superintendent C. E. Goodloe, of the fourth division of the railway mail service, shows that during the same period of 1927, 1,345 cars were loaded and 1,304 were unloaded in this division, a total of 2,649. During the same period of 1928, the fourth division figures showed that 1,194 cars were loaded, and 1,256 were unloaded, or a total of 2,450, with the 1927 figures showing an increase of 190 cars, or 8 1/2 per cent. The increase in car loadings was 151 cars.

YOUTH, HUNTING, SHOOT OFF HAND; IS BROUGHT HERE

Lawrenceville, Ga., December 30.—(Special).—Early Robinson, 19, had his right arm almost severed at the wrist today by a charge from a shotgun while rabbit hunting. He was also hit in the face by a part of the charge.

Robinson was hunting with four other men and was standing on a large stump with another boy. He jumped off and the hammer hit the stump discharging the gun. The young man was rushed to town and given first aid by Doctor A. D. Williams and then rushed to Wesley Hospital by F. Q. Sammon ambulance.

It is said that the member will have to be amputated. Young Robinson is the son of the late H. N. Robinson, former clerk of the superior court of Gwinnett county.

CORONER'S JURY DECIDES WORKER KILLED BY MISHAP

Griffin, Ga., December 30.—(Special).—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict that Sam Hunter, who was found dead at the junk yard operated by Leo Young, came to his death as the result of injuries received when an automobile fell on his neck. Hunter was working on the car when it fell upon him. His body was found by a small daughter of Young who was playing in the yard. Funeral services for Hunter, who had lived in this section for many years, were held Thursday afternoon from Haisten's chapel. The Rev. J. F. Norton, pastor of Devotie Baptist church, officiated and interment was in Oak Hill cemetery. Hunter had no relatives.

EMILY WOODWARD ASKED TO ADDRESS FLORIDA EDITORS

Quitman, Ga., December 30.—Editor Lon Burton, of Delray, Fla., is here this week on a visit to relatives and tells of the plans being made for the meeting of the Florida Press association at Lake Worth in April. Mrs. Lucile Smith is president of the association and the first woman thus honored and she has invited Miss Emily Woodward, of Vienna, the first woman president of the Georgia Press association, to be an honor guest and speaker at the program. Mr. Burton, who formerly lived at Cordale and is a personal friend of Miss Woodward, says she has accepted.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TO LIMIT SERVICE OUTSIDE OF CITY

With the exception of calls from colleges and hospitals, the Atlanta fire department in the future will not answer fire calls from DeKalb county outside the city limits. Fire Chief W. B. Cody announced Friday.

REALTORS SOUND NOTE OF CHEER FOR HOME RENTER

Chicago, December 30.—(R).—A note of cheer for the home renter was sounded today in the semi-annual survey of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which told of generally stabilized conditions in a real estate market featured by a trend toward lower home rentals. Rates for all types of dwellings followed a slightly downward curve as compared with the previous year. Of the 310 cities included in the survey, approximately one-fourth reported reduced rates for houses and apartments, while only one-tenth reported higher rates. The rest said rents were stationary. The large majority of the cities also reported rents of central business property to be the same or higher than a year ago.

TWO ARE ARRESTED IN STORE ROBBERY

Irene Brown and Mose Powell, both negroes, were arrested early Friday morning by Call Officers H. A. Hardy and C. W. Crankshaw, in connection with the looting of a Rogers store at Angier avenue and Bedford place. The negro woman was carrying some groceries when apprehended by the officers and confessed to a share in the burglary. Powell was arrested later and both are being held on charges of suspicion.

HILL PASCHAL NAMED AMERICUS FIRE CHIEF

Americus, Ga., December 30.—(R). Hill Paschel, member of the Albany fire department, was elected chief of the local fire department, succeeding J. B. Hays, at a meeting of the city council last night. Tom Summers was re-elected chief of police and G. C. Webb was elected city recorder, succeeding Hollis Fort.

INUNCTION IS GRANTED IN 'TIGER' WILL FIGHT

Temporary injunction restraining Walk Miller, manager of the late "Tiger" Flowers, from acting as trustee of the $60,000 trust established by the negro pugilist for his daughter, Verna Lee Flowers, and appointment of a temporary trustee pending a hearing set for January 7, were latest developments Tuesday in the legal battle over the estate of the boxer.

The temporary injunction was granted by Judge E. D. Thomas following the filing of a petition by Attorney H. A. Allen in behalf of Verna Lee Flowers, through her mother, Willie Mae Flowers.

At the same time Attorney Allen filed a caveat to the will in the court of the Fulton county ordinary which set forth that "Tiger" Flowers was a "under domination and control" of his manager; that the will was made within 24 hours of Tiger's death, and that Mr. Miller is not qualified to act as executor, as named in the will, because he is a non-resident.

Pending disposition of the caveat and the ordinary's ruling upon the will, Judge Thomas signed the temporary restraining order and appointed temporary trustees.

The petition for appointment of the trustees complied in that Mr. Miller is a appointed trustee by Tiger Flowers on "no bond" conditions and that this would give him unlimited scope in the administration of the fund.

Cleveland Gets Meet.

Washington, December 30.—(R).—Hudson chapter, Western Reserve college at Cleveland, was selected today as the 1928 convention host to Alpha Phi college fraternity. The sessions will begin December 28.

ROY POPE PROMOTED BY A. & C. RAILROAD

Roy Pope, assistant general freight agent of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Coast railroad for the past seven years has been promoted to the position of general freight agent, effective January 1, it was announced Friday by officials of the company. There has been no general freight agent of the road since its reorganization in 1920, when Mr. Pope was promoted from chief clerk to the position of assistant freight agent. He entered the service of the company in 1916 as an executive rate clerk in the general offices in Atlanta and was soon promoted to the position of chief clerk, which he held until 1920, when the company was reorganized. It was formerly known as the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad.

Mr. Pope is a resident of Decatur and lives at 127 Greenwood place. He has always taken an active part in civic and church affairs in the city and is an elder in the Decatur Christian church.

DIVIDEND DECLARED BY FOURTH NATIONAL

An extra dividend of 2 per cent on capital stock in addition to the regular semi-annual dividend of 8 per cent, payable December 31, was declared Friday by directors of the Fourth National bank. The total dividend to be distributed is $120,000, officials stated.

"The year has been most satisfactory," John K. Outley, president of the bank, said, "and we look confidently toward a splendidly sustained business during 1928."

ALBANY MAN HEADS ORDER OF DE MOLAY

Wade Karsney, of Albany, Friday afternoon was elected president of the Order of De Molay at the closing session of the annual state convocation which opened Thursday at the Masonic temple. It is probable that the next convocation will be held in Albany the last week in August of 1928, it was stated.

Other officers chosen are: Alvin Karsman, of Savannah, first vice president; Merrill Autry, of Marietta, second vice president; John Kheney, of Augusta, third vice president; Paul Nensome, of Columbus, fourth vice president, and Theo. S. Mauldin, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer.

Hal Huey, retiring master councilor, of the Atlanta chapter of the organization, was presented with a post master councilor's pin, by the convocation as a token of appreciation of his services.

Louis Lower, field representative for the grand council, of the Order of De Molay, addressed the convocation at the morning session on "De Molay Hours and Distinctions." Kendall Weisner, personnel head of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company and a member of the advisory council of the Atlanta De Molay chapter, also spoke.

A luncheon was served at the temple at the noon hour and this was followed by the final business session.

ALDERMAN GUY DOBBS FILLS CHAIR OF MAYOR

Alderman W. Guy Dobbs, mayor pro tem of Atlanta, occupied the mayor's chair Friday probably for the last time. Mayor I. N. Razshale was called from his office on account of the death of a relative. Another mayor pro tem will be selected by council Monday night.

Next FRIDAY Whippet will be the most valuable car ever offered for so little money

John G. Willys
President, The Willys-Overland Company

AFTER months of preparation, we are ready to present the perfected Whippet for 1928.

You will be satisfied and delighted with every detail of its equipment and performance. You will be amazed when you learn how low is the price. For Willys-Overland resources and equipment are now such that no car of equal quality can be built and sold at a lower price.

Greatly Increased Facilities

Within its class, we believe, no car combines so many advantages—offers such remarkable value. To make it possible, our plans have included major revisions in factory equipment—a new body plant doubling our capacity—the addition of new departments—the installation of new and highly perfected machinery—and notable economies in production costs.

The factory service cost on the Whippet has been the lowest of any car we ever built. As a result, we have been able to minimize materially the usual allowances for service costs—another contributing factor to the lowered price of the 1928 Whippet.

Present light car standards are a tribute to the pioneering the Whippet has done. Four-wheel brakes—lower center of gravity—greater economy—greater roominess—quieter engines—faster speed and pick-up—great beauty—no one today would think of buying a car that had not made these advances.

Many Added Features

Among the many things you will like in the 1928 Whippet are improved bodies in a wide variety of beautiful colors, and fitted with cadet-type visor, full crown fenders, an engine that doubles its rated horse-power, full pressure lubrication, silent timing chain, gasoline tank in rear, long, semi-elliptic springs, oversize balloon tires and snubbers, an adjustable steering wheel, automatic windshield wiper, rear view mirror and stop light.

Holds Remarkable Records

Owners have driven and tested the Whippet for more than five hundred million miles. It has established record after record in proof of its superiority. It holds the A. A. A. Coast-to-Coast economy record, averaging 43.28 miles to the gallon. In a national economy test 5,508 owners averaged 38 miles to the gallon. Whippet established a record of 71.6 miles an hour in a speed test on Rockingham Park Speedway. It accelerates from 5 to 30 miles in 11.5 seconds; turns in a 17-foot radius, and parks in 14 feet of curb space.

We suggest you see the Whippet and get the new price next Friday. Examine it carefully. Compare it with any other car. Then ask about the easy plan to pay for it out of your income.

Engineering Leadership

In January, 1927 we made this prediction: "4-wheel brakes will be standard equipment on all cars, regardless of size, within the next 18 months."

In spite of this statement two and one-half million purchasers have since bought cars having only two-wheel brakes. These cars are now being rendered obsolete in point of brake equipment by changes on the part of manufacturers who had not yet sensed the coming trend.

Whippet standardized on four-wheel brakes more than a year ahead of other light cars, and yet four-wheel brakes are only one feature of Whippet's advanced design today!

Miss Thurman Weds William A. Sanders At Home Ceremony

A wedding of great beauty was that of Miss Katherine Thurman and William A. Sanders, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Thurman, on Emory drive in Druid Hills, Wednesday evening, December 28, at 6:30 o'clock.

The long reception hall was beautifully decorated with smiles and floral baskets filled with rose carnations. An aisle was formed with white ribbon that led to the improvised altar of palms and amaranth. The room was lighted with burning white tapers in cathedral candelabra. The music room adjoining had similar decorations. Dr. W. A. Shelton, of Emory university, performed the ceremony.

The groomsmen were Edwin R. Smith and I. Giddens Wilkes, of Atlanta, and E. R. Bufkin, of Hattiesburg, Miss. Miss Pat Fullwood was the first bridesmaid and she was followed by Miss Virginia Smith and Miss Harriet Evans, of Tifton. They wore dresses fashioned of tulle, made bouffant style. Miss Smith's dress was pale pink, Miss Fullwood's dress was rose, and Miss Evans' dress was deeper shades of pink. Miss Smith's dress was outlined at the neck with rhinestones, and beautiful pastel colored satin ribbon was looped at the back and held with rhinestone ornaments and fell to the uneven hem of the skirt. Each carried enormous arm bouquets of pastel-shaded sweetpeas.

Miss Anna Thurman was her sister's maid of honor. She was beautiful in a tulle dress of pale green, fashioned like the bridesmaid's. Her bouquet was also of sweetpeas in pastel shades.

Lovely Bride. The bride entered with her father, W. Marvin Thurman. She was lovely in her gown of ivory duchesse satin, trimmed with pearls and rhinestones and real lace. The draperies were caught up with a gorgeous rhinestone and pearl ornament. The tulle veil, which was cap shaped and wreathed in orange blossoms, fell in a long train. Her ornaments were pearls, the gift of her parents, and a platinum bar pin set in diamonds, the gift of the groom. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Robert Sineath, of Adel, Ga.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home. Mrs. Thurman was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. J. B. Peebles and Mrs. James Lester. Miss Dorothy Thurman, youngest sister of the bride, and Miss Gertrude Paine, Miss Eleanor Peebles and Miss Ellen Riley, Miss Mabel Perkins, kept the bride's book. Mrs. Thurman, the bride's mother, was elegantly gowned in black satin and lace and she wore a shoulder bouquet of roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Sineath received the guests, was gowned in black lace and she wore a shoulder corsage of roses and valley lilies. Miss Dorothy Thurman was lovely in an Alice blue dress.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harmon and Charles Allen, of Tifton; Mrs. E. L. Vickers, also of Tifton; E. R. Dufkin, of Hattiesburg, Miss.; Robert Sineath, of Adel, and Miss Harriet Evans, of Hattiesburg. Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Sanders left for a wedding journey, after which they will be at home in Miami, Fla., where Mr. Sanders holds a responsible position with a well-known packing company.

Mrs. McGahee To Honor Lovely Little Daughter.

Mrs. Cecil T. McGahee will entertain Monday afternoon at her home on Boulevard circle in honor of her daughter, Mildred Elizabeth, on her sixth birthday.

Those invited are Little Misses Mary Ann Atkins, Alice Connell, Dorothy Crockett, Mary Ann Atkins, Mary Margaret Evans, Ann Freeman, Dorothy Harbort, Margaret Harmon, Ann Kidd, Florence Kennedy, Muriel Kennedy, Barbara Lee, Daisy Lurell, Louise Magill, Ann Neidinger, Dorothy Scott, Millie Scott, Alice Settee, Mary Tyce, Jacquelin, Vernoy, Roselyn Weisman and Charles Barton. Miss Smith Weds James P. Parsons.

The marriage of Miss Alice May Smith and James P. Parsons was solemnized Tuesday, December 27, at 3 o'clock in the presence of the immediate family and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom, who drove to the Wee Hut, the log cabin week-end home of a small circle of friends of which the bride was a member.

Immediately on their arrival the service was read by Dr. Robert Rhodes, of Emory university. The decorations were gathered from the woods around the log cabin, pine boughs frescoed the rafters and walls, combined with clusters of red berries. The altar was formed of pine boughs and Christmas ferns, with wrought iron candelabra, holding white tapered candles, on each side. Fine needles formed a fragrant carpet. The big fireplace was heaped with roaring logs which gave out a spicy odor of cedar boughs.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe trimmed in lace and carried a bouquet showered with valley lilies. Little Miss Kathleen Jennings, the niece of the bride, bore the ring. After the ceremony the negro servants on the farm sang plantation melodies. Mrs. Parsons, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, of Decatur, is an honor graduate of the Girls' High school and of Agnes Scott college. For the past four years she has been teaching at Lindbloom High school in Chicago, and has pursued a medical course at Rush college, University of Chicago.

Mr. Parsons is a native of Maryland. At present he is completing requirements for doctor's degree in physics at the University of Chicago. After the honeymoon in Florida Mr. and Mrs. Parsons will be at home at the Midway apartment hotel in Chicago.

Georgia Products Will Feature New Year's Dinners in the State

Georgia products will feature New Year's day dinners and loyal Georgia citizens in every section will thereupon demonstrate patriotic support of the state's greatest natural asset, its agricultural resources. Georgia may well be spoken of as the garden spot of America and verily a land flowing with milk and honey, for within the borders of the state all forces of nature, climate, soil and temperature tend to make agricultural developments thrive.

Here in Georgia may practically be found the choicest fruits, the finest nuts, the purest honey, game, poultry, dairy products, vegetables of all varieties fresh with the dew, all abound in plenty.

How fitting that thousands of Georgians should dine on the products of the "Peach State" as one great family in the beginning of the new year and how fine if these same Georgians will continue this practice of Georgians dining at home on the first Sunday of every month in the coming year.

A greater prosperity for the tillers of the soil will meet a great prosperity for the city dweller and it is the knowledge of the mutual benefit by all citizens of the state, on the farm and in the city, that the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs with the cooperation of civic and patriotic bodies and citizens, have inaugurated the all-Georgia products for Georgians for 1928.

Executive Mauston Dinner. His excellency, Governor Hardman, and Mrs. Hardman will entertain at a family dinner party at the governor's mansion, where every item of the New Year's Sunday dinner will be a product of the governor's own farm.

Ex-Governor and Mrs. John M. Slaton will entertain at an all-Georgia products dinner on Peachtree road. Former Governor and Mrs. Hugh M. Dorsey and their sons will dine at a brilliant Georgia products dinner at the Georgian Terrace hotel, which has been arranged by the management, especially that Atlantians making their home at this fashionable hotel may participate in this New Year's celebration.

Ex-Senator and former Governor Hoke Smith and Mrs. Smith will dine at a Georgia products dinner at the Piedmont hotel, where they make their home.

Hon. Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, and Mrs. Talmadge will dine on Georgia products at their home in McRae, Ga. Mayor and Mrs. Ragsdale will entertain relatives at a home dinner party. George West, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. West will entertain a party of friends at their homes. Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, state director Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, will entertain at a family dinner party. Mrs. Herbert H. Franklin, state regent Daughters of the American Revolution, will entertain at a Georgia products dinner at home in Tennesse, Mr. and Mrs. C. McKenzie, Montezuma, past state president U. D. C., will give a dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Julian Harris and Mrs. R. M. Harris, of Columbus, Ga., are making special preparations of the New Year's Georgia products dinner.

Major and Mrs. John Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Upton, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Nevin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Norcross are among hundreds of Atlantians who are entertaining family dinner parties at their homes in observance of the day.

Hotels Cooperate. The Vanity Fair, a room on Peachtree street, is a first and fashionable establishment. It serves tempting luncheons and dinner menus on Sunday, of all Georgia products. The Hotel Georgia, 100 Peachtree street, will serve a luncheon of Georgia products. The Hotel Winfield, 100 Peachtree street, will serve a luncheon of Georgia products. The Hotel Georgian Terrace, 100 Peachtree street, will serve a luncheon of Georgia products. The Hotel Atlanta, 100 Peachtree street, will serve a luncheon of Georgia products.

The movement sponsored by the hotel and restaurant association, the Atlanta Food Dealers' association, A. J. Elliott president, will provide and Buckeye Woman's Club Gives Party. The Buckeye Woman's club entertained last Tuesday evening at the Atlanta Woman's club. The husbands of the members of the club were the special guests of honor at the dinner served in the banquet hall, decorated in festive colors of red, green and silver.

Dr. W. Earl Quillian was the toastmaster for the occasion and introduced the speakers. "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung at the beginning and during the evening Dr. and Mrs. Quillian sang "Beautiful Ohio." Miss Helen Schaid, one of Atlanta's foremost musicians, contributed several selections on the piano. Master Earl Quillian gave several clog dance numbers. Mrs. Fred White, a gifted and talented reader, gave a group of humorous readings. Mrs. W. Earl Quillian sang "Mother MacCree." "A Bowl of Roses" and "To a Rose." She possesses a rich, full voice of much sweetness and was accompanied by Miss Schaid.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. W. Earl Quillian, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Weems, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Harold, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. King, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schanck, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Floding, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Helbig, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Longwell, Mesdames Fred White, Rose Shoemaker, E. L. Miss Cullum Weds Mr. Gregory At Ceremony in Batesburg, S. C.

Batesburg, S. C., December 30.—The wedding of Miss Frederika Elizabeth Cullum, of Atlanta, to William Thurlow Gregory, of Lancaster was solemnized Wednesday evening, December 28, at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Hattie G. Cullum, in Batesburg.

The guests were met at the door by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Holman and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jones. In the ceremony room were triple arches banded with pine with white baskets filled with fern and white carnations hanging in the center of each arch.

On each side of the altar stood white pedestals with larger brass candelabra with white tapers. The music was furnished by the Holmans and white tapers graduated from each end to a brass candelabra with white tapers in the center. In the reception hall, under an arch of southern cypress lighted with white tapers, Miss Nan Gunter sang "O Promise Me" and with Mrs. O. F. Irby, of Atlanta, and "Sweetest Story Ever Told," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. J. B. Hartley.

As the orchestra sounded the first notes of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," the ribbon-bearers, Misses Catherine Brabham, Martha Josephine Jones, Sylvia Cullum and Marian Hunt, of Columbia, brought in shepherd's crooks joined with tulle, by which they formed an aisle in the reception hall. Eldridge Cullum and Henry Cullum, of Augusta, lighted the tapers.

The bridal party was composed of Henry and Eldridge Cullum, Andrew and Toy Gregory, of Lancaster, brothers of the groom; Ned Gregory, of Lancaster, brother of the groom; James Caldwell Cullum, uncle of the bride, who gave her away; Misses Hattie Jeanne Brabham, Millie Locke Crawford, of Lancaster, and Mary Irby, of Atlanta, bridesmaids; Miss Elizabeth Dowling, of Norway, maid of honor; Mrs. H. L. Crawford, of Lancaster, dame of honor; Mrs. Henry Herman Hirsch, of Atlanta, mother of the bride, matron of honor; little Miss Jane Smith, of Charlotte, and Mary Sloan Marsh, flower girls; Master George Douglas Holman, ring-bearer; little Miss Harriet Rucker Cullum, train-bearer.

The bridesmaid's dresses were made with lacy waists and full short, petted skirts of pink and green tulle, and carried arm bouquets of pink roses. The maid of honor wore pink tulle and the dame of honor wore green tulle. The matron of honor was gowned in orchid georgette heavily headed with crystals. The ribbon-bearers wore green tulle, with silver head dresses and the flower girls were dressed in pink and green chiffon. The ring-bearer wore a suit of white tulle.

Lovely Bride. The bride entered with her uncle, J. C. Cullum. Her gown was a combination of a satin bodice with a yoke of real princess lace embroidered in pearls, and an ankle-length skirt of tulle, with a single ornament of pearls draped in orange blossoms. Her veil had a coronet of lace, pearls and orange blossoms, from which fell a hip-length veil of tulle and lace and a train veil of satin and tulle. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses, showered with lilies of the valley. During the ceremony, performed by Dr. Hugh R. Murchison, of Columbia, the orchestra played "Hearts and Flowers."

After the ceremony Miss Katherine Cullum, aunt of the bride, introduced the guests to the receiving line composed of Mrs. H. G. Cullum, grandmother of the bride, groomed in black satin, trimmed in hand embroidery, lace and crystals, with a shoulder bouquet of orchids; Miss Lizzie Cullum, great-aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hirsch, father and mother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gregory, father and mother of the groom, and the wedding party.

The bride and groom left in the late evening for Florida. The bride's going-away dress was an ensemble of blue, trimmed with gray fur with accessories of gray. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory will be at their home in Lancaster after February 1.

Misses Carpenter Entertain at Home.

An enjoyable event of the Christmas season was the open house Wednesday evening at which Misses Isabelle and Virginia Carpenter entertained 125 guests at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Carpenter, at East Lake. Misses Carpenter were assisted in receiving their guests by their mother, Mrs. W. C. Carpenter.

DIET AND HEALTH BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS.

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers. —Jewish Proverb

Baby Does Not Gain.

"I am worried about my five weeks old baby. She sleeps well and her eyes are bright, but she has not gained any in weight since birth. Her bowels move two or three times a day and leave greenish stains on her nappies. What can I eat to make my milk better? I live on a farm and have milk, fresh eggs, butter, fruits, meat and all kinds of vegetables I am 42 years old and have seven children, all healthy.—Mrs. L."

You didn't say anything about your own condition, Mrs. L. You are 42 I rather suspect that living on a farm with all those good things to eat, even work to do, you are overweight. Am I right? A diet which causes an excess gain in the mother's weight not infrequently weakens her milk. Under-nourishment in the mother would, of course, have the same effect.

So, first, see to your own nutrition, Mrs. L. If you are overweight, send for the pamphlet on reducing and gaining. (Enclose ten cents in coin and a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope for this.) We also have an article on "Diet During Pregnancy and Nursing," and a list of books on child-rearing, which you had better ask for. Are you nursing the baby regularly? This is important.

The number of stools is all right, and the fact that they give a little green stain is not necessarily a bad sign, because there is a change in the pigment after the stools have passed. If they are green when they are passed, that needs an investigation.

Your baby is old enough now to have one bottle a day instead of the nursing. You can make a formula of half milk and half water. Boil these together for four or five minutes for a week or so, and unless your cows have been tuberculin tested, so you know they are free from tuberculosis, better continue this boiling.

You can add a quarter teaspoon of sugar and then work up to one-half teaspoon or more. Cane sugar agrees with well babies, but with your baby perhaps you had better have malt sugar.

You had better also begin to give the baby some orange juice and some cod liver oil. Begin the orange juice with one teaspoonful in its drinking water, and increase it gradually until it is getting three or four tablespoonfuls. Begin with five drops of cod liver oil a little while before its nursing, and increase it a drop or so until it is getting a teaspoonful. Better get the pure cod liver oil. (The malt extract of the oil is good, but you have to use a little more of that.) Give the baby two or three drinks of water between meals.

If you are well, by no means give up nursing the baby.

Is it better to get fresh air night and day, and sunshine? There are many things to think of as a cause of under-nourishment in a baby. If you can, take your baby to a baby specialist or to a clinic.

Molding Bones. "When the bridge of the nose of a child ten years of age is rather large, can it be made more shapely by massaging it?"—MRS. W. "Massaging might have a little effect, Mrs. W., but I'm afraid not much. It is not unusual for the nose of a child to be a little out of proportion—either too large or too small—but this often corrects itself as the child grows; in one case the face growing to the nose, and in the other, the nose growing to the face. Bones of the legs can be molded by exercising and stretching, and sometimes braces, when the work is begun early enough. You should see an orthopedic surgeon about this work."

The Woman in the Case

BY LOUIS TRACY

SYNOPSIS

John Arden, returning to his room at the Park Palace hotel, London, in the early hours of the morning, breaks his key in the lock and is given a room in a luxurious suite by the night watchman, who assures him that the rooms are unoccupied. He is about to retire when two women enter the apartment. One is addressed as Emma and the other as Mrs. Sinclair. Arden, hiding, hears them speak of the sudden death of Lord Farndale. Without being observed, he lets himself out of the apartment. The next morning he reads of the mysterious death of the peer. A little later he sees Emma on the street and is not far from her when she is knocked down by a motorcycle. Her dress is torn and he offers her his raincoat. She accepts it and he offers to get her a taxi, telling her that they live in the same hotel. Later Arden learns that the police know the identity of the two women who visited Lord Farndale, and cannot locate them. They watch the railway terminals. Arden sees Emma at one of the stations and behind Mrs. Sinclair's back takes her away with him to avoid arrest. Mrs. Sinclair, in fear of being detained as a material witness was about to cross over to Paris with Emma. Arden takes the girl to the rooms of his friend, Andy Burke, who turns the apartment and his housekeeper over to her. Burke is invited to share Jimmie Davidson's rooms for the night. Before leaving Andy's apartment, the three friends and Detective Furneaux of Scotland Yard, who has joined them, hold a conference in Emma's behalf.

On leaving Furneaux suggests to Arden that he call on Mrs. Sinclair, who is back at the Park Palace hotel, before going to bed, but he learns nothing from her, beyond catching a glimpse of Juan de Braganza, who claims, in spite of the girl's denial, to be Emma's husband.

As the coroner's inquest into the death of Lord Farndale Mrs. Sinclair is represented by a lawyer named Frankland.

Emma returns to Mrs. Sinclair on the advice of Furneaux.

INSTALLMENT XXXVI.
MRS. SINCLAIR LIES.

Joining Mrs. Sinclair, the older woman, in their common sitting room, Emma threw herself into a chair and said wearily:

"I do hope people will leave me alone now for the rest of the day. I wouldn't mind if they would tell me things, but they don't. All they seem to want is to squeeze information out of me. That lawyer—Frankland—has been interesting, but he wasn't. At first he seemed to be struck dumb by what he called, when able to speak, 'the singular persistence of the family likeness.' As though I didn't resemble my own father!"

"I am rather curious to know why he came," admitted Mrs. Sinclair affably, trying, not unsuccessfully, to give her words the nonchalance of a friendly chat. "He is practically in charge of your grandfather's estate, I suppose, and he made a great point of seeing you alone, so I naturally assumed he would at least vouch for a fair hint as to the exact legal position in so far as it affects you."

"No. He wanted to hear everything I could say about my father's life in Buenos Aires. Et, voila tout! He was particularly anxious to find out if poor old dad left any money. Did he, do you know?"

"Very little, I believe. The consulate took charge of things. Of course, the furniture was sold, and a sum of nearly 1,000 pounds was paid into your credit in his bank. Don't you remember?"

"No. I certainly do not."

"Surely you recall the fact that the contents of the villa were disposed of, and the house and grounds offered for sale, but withdrawn until a better offer than the highest bid could be secured?"

"Yes. You told me that, but we left Buenos Aires for New York a few days later, and that is the last I ever heard of it—during the best part of a year."

"You dear, foolish child! I had no idea you were so unbusinesslike. How was I to guess what letters you received? Indeed, I wondered at times why you did not confide in me."

Emma resolved instantly to take this statement at its face value.

"But how did father manage to live and who has been paying my expenses all this long time since he died?" she asked, and her wonderment was quite genuine.

"I know nothing of your father's means. Of course, he wrote scientific articles and the like, but they cannot have been highly remunerative. While you have been with me I have gladly borne the slight extra cost."

"But why?"

"What is there to prevent me? I am alone in the world. I valued your companionship. I have never before felt as the other evening, especially when that young man came and told me you had gone, apparently forever."

"You mean Mr. Arden?"

"Yes. He lives in this hotel. Have you seen him here?"

"No," said Emma, thanking her stars for the form the question had taken.

"But he seemed to know far too much about you?"

"He knew a good deal about both of us, didn't he? That was not our fault, of course. It was—what shall I call it?—a sort of accident. He acted on the impulse of a knight errant in rescuing me from instant arrest. Oh,

I understand"—because Mrs. Sinclair did then purse her lips and move an impatient foot—"but I'm sure he thought so at the moment. He just rushed me into a taxi, and took me to dinner at some big hotel, the name of which I don't even know. His friends, Mr. Burke and Mr. Davidson, were awaiting him, and they got the surprise of their lives when I joined the party. But before the party broke up the detective got out of Mr. Arden and me every scrap of information we could give."

"A big plausible man, named Winter?"

"No. A funny little sketch, a born comedian. Oh, so clever! He sure twisted all of us round his little finger. We went to Mr. Burke's flat."

"Where?"

"Again I don't know. What have I seen of London? But it is not far from the hotel. Mr. Burke has an Irish housekeeper, a motherly old soul, and I was left in her keeping for the night. But before the party broke up the detective got out of Mr. Arden and me every scrap of information we could give."

"Well, don't you see?—I couldn't help myself. He produced a lying letter Juan de Braganza wrote to Lord Farndale last November, saying that I was his wife, and that we were coming home to see my grandfather. So, of course—"

"Never mind Juan just now. We have no need to quarrel about him. I think I saw your queer looking detective in court today. Do you care to tell me any more of what Mr. Simmonds said?"

"Really, he was very polite, but most unimpressive. He spoke about grandfather's will, and described it as a complex document. He warned me, too, that my expectations under it are negligible. And that really hurt me. It is good and kind of you to take me about traveling in state and living in expensive hotels, but I must think of the future. I'll write to the consulate, and ask what funds are available. Then I'll take a course at something or other—nursing or farming, or dog breeding. I should love to breed dogs."

Mrs. Sinclair smiled indulgently. "I shouldn't trouble about the immediate future, if I were you," she said. "A lot of water will flow under London bridge before Lord Farndale's extraordinary death is finally accounted for. But you had another vision, Mr. Buchanan, Lord Farndale's sister. I saw him in the court, too. What did he want?"

"Oh, he's a dear! He made me weep. At his request I took him into the park, and we sat down for quite a long time. He knew dad well, ever since he was born—until, in fact, he left Oxford. He loved dad, and was most anxious to have particulars of his later days."

"How odd that everyone should be so concerned as to our doings in South America all at once after a lapse of thirty years!" Mrs. Sinclair could not help commenting acidly.

"And whose fault is that?" retorted Emma rather more warmly than she intended. "You asked me if I had read the newspapers. Who arranged that my supposed marriage to Juan de Braganza should be proclaimed to all the world by some wretched lawyer whom I have never even seen?"

"I certainly secured legal representation in your interests and mine. How was I to know that we would not be charged with some measure of responsibility for Lord Farndale's death?"

"And did you tell him that I was De Braganza's wife?"

Mrs. Sinclair was compelled to lie roundly then.

"No," she said. "That was Juan's doing. He was in court with me."

bill are York and King in "Tin Times," the Royal Gascogne, Harry Smith and Jack Strong, singers, and Joe Page and Nora Glass, comedians. The Loew feature picture for the week is "Love," based on the Tolstoy novel, "Anna Karenina," with John Gilbert and Greta Garbo in leading roles.

Howard.

Those who enjoy a really worthwhile comedy should not let the day pass without seeing Colleen Moore in "Her Wild Out," which will be shown for the last time at the Howard today. On the stage Al Short and his Melody Boys are offering "Hello, 1928," devised and staged by Mr. Short. "Hello, 1928," consists of a dazzling array of talented beauties and excellent dancers and singers. Mr. Short has scored another triumph in his production of "Hello, 1928."

Rialto.

There will be shown for the last time today the Tiffany production, "Wild Geese," at the Rialto, where it has been playing all week. This is a vivid picturization of the prize novel of the same name by Martha Ostenso, who has made a remarkable reputation within the past few years as one of the leading writers of the country.

Stage Romance Here Culminates In Marriage

The culmination of a romance which has brightened the tour of the "My Maryland" company, playing at the Erlanger theater for this and next week, came in Atlanta Friday afternoon with the marriage of Miss Gloria Lawrence, petite member of the ensemble of the company, to George E. Robertson, of Miami, Fla., master mechanic with the show.

Keith's Georgia.

The big holiday show at Keith's Georgia closes tonight with four complete performances during the day in which "The Night Hawks," a musical organization with a nation-wide reputation, has the headline position. Singers, dancers and comedians compose the band with three attractive young ladies added for the dance numbers and the picture. On the screen is the clever laugh comedy, "The Sorenade," with Adolphe Menjou as the star.

Capitol.

With performances today of the great program at the Capitol theater this week, "Carl Laemmle's Joy Week" will pass into history as one of the most memorable events in local theatrical circles, leaving the "Joy Week" of next year to be pleasantly anticipated. On the stage, five big vaudeville acts are featured, headlining the turn of Passer's Romantic Revue, which is a colorful bit of entertainment, with other interesting acts are Gaston and DeAndre, world's greatest trapeze artists; "The Great Johnson," famous contortionist; Dorcas Summers, personality songstress; and Christy and Dunn, comedy artists. On the screen is "The Fourflusher," starring Marion Nixon.

Loew's Grand.

NAVY HELD ORDERS: Nell Wanderwell To Seek $4 RESCUE PROBE Thrills of Aviation Next

GLOBETROTTER HAS TRAVELED 382,000 MILES

Nell Wanderwell, woman globe trotter, who is back in Atlanta Friday night, after having completed 382,000 miles in her endeavor to see every country in the world.

Looking just as youthful as she did when she launched her tour of the world by automobile, she arrived here announcing that after finishing this any sending her away in the name of the world. She has visited 21 states, Honolulu, Alaska, Canada, Mexico, Central and South America, Cuba, England, Scotland, France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Poland, Russia, Greece, Turkey, Egypt, India, China, Japan and Korea. She will complete the list next fall when she returns to the city, if her plans are carried out.

Adventure, hardships and privation of the frigid wastes and the blazing deserts mingle with the bright lights and romantic customs of the lands in her long list of experiences.

She has been held by royalty and held captive by Mexican bandits. She once was the guest of the late Francisco I. Madero at his hacienda at Cuernavaca, Mexico, while on a tour of Mexico. She was lost in the towering sands of the Sonora desert, Mexico, and was forced to drink drinking water from the radiator of the automobile in which she and her party were traveling.

Miss Wanderwell will leave Sunday for Miami, where she will spend a few days before continuing her travels.

"Everybody—at least almost everybody—has heard of me, and while I am glad in our undertaking," she said, "I am going to finish the job, then I shall try aviation for another thrill."

Miss Wanderwell and her party travel in a specially constructed machine, which has additional tanks for gasoline and water. It weighs about 1000 pounds and is loaded for travel.

The hood is covered with autographs of famous persons of this and other countries.

Edison motion pictures have been made of the travels, and theaters in many parts of the country have given them good runs.

Miss Wanderwell has appeared on the stage in many leading cities of the country relating her adventures, but stated Friday she is not interested in other theatrical appearances at the present time. She is stopping at the Ausley hotel.

It will be a round the world trip by plane. At least that is my plan at this time," she said.

Miss Wanderwell began the tour from the Georgia state capital, September 22, 1919, Governor Hugh Dor-divers were working tonight, determined to make the most of the unusual calm that has marked the last few days. This afternoon's calm-in-which the rescue party was seriously retarded salvage operations.

This is the ninth of a series of articles by Bennett J. Doty, American boy whose valiant service in the French Foreign Legion, and his subsequent desertion, imprisonment and release have made him a figure of world interest. Doty relates his remarkable experiences, and describes the life in the famous legion from the "inside," as it is lived by the private.

BY BENNETT J. DOTY. (Written Exclusively for The Commercial Appeal and South American News Service, Copyright, 1927, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The night following our first clash with the Druse we spent in heavy sleeping. The next four days were passed in cleaning up the town, burying the dead and forming the column, which was constantly being reinforced from long range. They did very little damage.

Bombs Clear Way. Shortly after noon we entered Sueda without opposition. Our airplanes and artillery had pretty well cleared the town with bombs and shells. At the highest point in the town we found the first of the Druse. They were about 2000 of the French forces, Spahis and native Syrian troops for the most part. They had five-hundred Druse siege nearly four long.

Seventy-five had been killed and the situation was getting desperate when we arrived. They had plenty of water but their food was almost gone. They were getting low on ammunition. The Druse had been making life much more difficult with artillery captured from the French. The French relief column which had gone up in August was practically annihilated.

The next day was spent mending the town. The following day, Monday, the rear guard of which I was a part left the town, the mines were sprung.

The Citadel, the Sultan's palace, the citadel, at the chief buildings of the city, were laid waste.

We returned to Gazale without incident. After a few days' rest at Gazale we went on a punitive expedition to various points in the Druse. We took and burned nine of the principal towns of the Druse, and in general laid fire and sword to rebellious countryside. It was while returning from this raid that we fought the first battle of the campaign in the legion, and I spent the worst hour and a half of my life.

(Tomorrow) My Stiffest Fight in the Legion.

The Druse were a pair of baggy trousers, a shirt like an angler's smock, and a wide belt in which he stocks his cigarettes, money, watch and weapons. We were under orders to shoot them down. When they finished they were told off in squads, lined against a wall and shot. This is the law and had to be done.

The town was a village, some of the houses were built on the hillside, and the French generally lieutenants with prisoners, but as the Druse were so numerous, they were not taken and prisoners were of all ages, young men and old men. The captives met death stoically. Not one flinched or asked for sympathy.

Business Faces Coming 1928 With Conservative Optimism

BY STANLEY W. PRENSOHL (Associated Press Financial Editor)

New York, December 30.—(AP)—Business men and bankers view the outlook for 1928 with conservative optimism.

There is a feeling in many quarters that political uncertainties invariably arising during presidential years are likely to have a retarding effect upon some lines of business, but it is pointed out that other factors are decidedly favorable.

Credit supplies are ample, inventories low, transportation systems efficient, and the general business situation is favorable. The American oil companies have been off to a good start in the oil business, particularly in the oil fields of the Southwest.

Oil shares continued under the depressing influence of overproduction. Several oil companies were forced to reduce or omit dividends.

Rapid progress was made in the development of the South American oil fields, particularly in Venezuela, due to a practical shutdown in Mexico because of the controversy over land laws. A Mexican supreme court decision in favor of the American oil companies held out hope of a settlement. Purchase of Russian oil by the Standard Oil company of New York, started a bitter controversy between that corporation and the Royal Dutch Shell interests of Great Britain, but predictions of a world-wide price-cutting war have not materialized as the year neared its close.

Record-breaking electrical output was reflected in the steady appreciation in quotations of public utility shares. The rally was held in check, however, by fears of a congressional investigation into recent super-power projects and the growth of holding companies in the public utility field.

Several cotton markets were off to a bad start in 1927. Unseasonable weather in mid-winter, followed by a poor cotton harvest, a disastrous shortage of cotton and the smallest crop in 25 years. So warm was the weather in September and October, however, that a substantial part of the wheat and cotton crops, which had been given up as lost, blossomed into maturity. The government raised the wheat crop estimate to 600,000,000 bushels in November, and the year's crop output, instead of being the smallest since 1903, surpassed that of 1926.
